Heavy Loss Is Occasioned

In Hollywood

BE HALF MILLION

About 40 Acres Burned Over—One Fireman Is Fatally Stricken

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 5.—
Smoking ruins today marked
the path of a disastrous fire which raged for some hours in the Warner Brothers First National Studio in Dark Canyon.

The flames were brought under control after a four-hour battle.
Estimates of loss ran into hundreds of thousands of dollars.
A sudden shift in the wind, of near gale proportions, which had driven the blaze before it despite the frantic efforts of firemen from Burbank, Glendale and Hollywood
to check, saved all of the huge,
costly sound stages, and administration buildings on the studio lot.
It was the first fire of major proportions to occur in any Hollywood
studio in the modern history of mo-

Loss May Be $500,000
While studio officials refused to make any definite statement regarding the loss, as did fire department officials, one studio attaché unofficially estimated the damage
at $500,000.

Al Rouser, chief of the studio
fire department, succumbed to a heart attack during the height of the fire.

Rouser, who directed the battle against the blaze until the fire departments from surrounding cities arrived, was overcome by smoke
shortly after midnight.

Physicians declared the death
was due to heart disease.
As far as could be learned no
other persons sustained serious in-

PA NEW OBSERVES

E. P. Reebie of Fairmont avenue was one of the fortunate hunters.
The deer he brought home from the Clearfield vicinity is displayed in a local market.

Repeal is a year old today.

It's rather a peculiar coincidence
that the best appearing street marking sign on Highland avenue is the one at Garfield avenue, which announces "Mills Way".

Pa Newc is asked by a citizen with civic pride, if there isn't some way to prevent the walls along the Neshannock creek and the Croton hillside to be grown over with weeds.
"The walls looked fine when first built, but the covering of weeds doesn't look too good," said the citizen.

Another successful hunter of New Castle, is Thomas Strasbaugh of County Line street, who returned from a hunting trip with a six point deer.

Michael Bertz, 805 Eddy street,
has returned from a hunting trip
to Forest county, where he bagged an eight point buck, weighing 180 pounds.

Tony Ginoch, 315 Home street, reports that he is one of this year's successful hunters, having brought down a big 250 pound buck this week.

Three More Cabinet Posts Are Now Filled

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—With three additional names added to the roster of his cabinet, Governor-elect George H. Earle today turned his attention to the vital posts of secretary of mine and secretary of labor and industry. These, he indicated, are the only two cabinet offices for which he has not yet decided upon his selections.
Following a strenuous day of conferences with Democratic leaders,
the governor-elect last evening revealed his choices for three cabinet jobs.

For secretary of property and supplies Earle named Arthur Colegrove,
Corry newspaper publisher and Erie
County Democratic chairman.
Ralph M. Bashore, Pottsville attorney, was appointed secretary of forests and waters.

To fill the position of adjutant general of the Pennsylvania Na-

of Clearfield, was chosen.
Ten thousand dollars a year is the

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The United States will withdraw from the London naval discussions the moment Japan serves formal notice of its intention to denounce the Washington naval treaty, it was learned on reliable authority today.
American Ambassador Norman
H. Davis, chief of the American delegation to the discussions, already has been informed that this government expects him to withdraw from the conversations unless the basis for an agreement has been reached before Japan serves notice of termination.

Will Japan still adamant in its demand for full naval equality, it was admitted that at the moment there appeared no prospects of an agreement.

Authoritative quarters here believed Japan probably would serve notice of termination of the Washington treaty about the 20th of this month.

New Post Office Dedication Is Set For December 15

New Castle's new post office on the diamond will be formally dedicated at public ceremonies on Saturday, December 15. Postmaster Richard A. Steen announced this afternoon as he arrived here from a hurried trip to Washington, D. C.
Third Assistant Postmaster Gen-

will deliver the dedicatory address.
The postmaster went to Washington to offer Postmaster General James A. Farley a personal invitation to come here for the dedication, but Mr. Farley's December program is filled. Other duties prevented him from accepting.
Postmaster Steen could not say if his arrival whether the new building will be opened for use on December 15. A delay in the arrival of office equipment will likely postpone actual occupancy of the new building, but how long the postponement will be, could not be said today.

Merchants To Light Streets For Christmas

Annual Christmas Decora-

COOPERATION OF MERCHANTS SOUGHT

Plans are now well under way for the annual Christmas lighting of the business section of the city, which will be carried out under the direction of the Merchants' division of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce.
The cost this year will be less than in the past, Chairman Emanuel Shenkan stated, although a more elaborate lighting effect is planned than heretofore. The wiring and much of the needed fixtures are owned by the merchants, and the Pennsylvania Power company is assisting materially with the cost of the installation.

Merchants Must Cooperate.
Only those merchants who co-operate, however, will have the street in front of their place of business de-

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The

to a new world-wide armament race, at tremendous cost to the peoples of the world, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R.) of Michigan, declared today at the

A group of officials of E. I. Du-

School Girl Is Murdered In Michigan

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
LANSING, Mich., Dec. 5.— Criminally assaulted and then brutally murdered by blows on the head from a blunt instrument, the body of a 12-year-old schoolgirl, Leone Love, was found today stuffed in a culvert on a road just outside the city limits.

State police, looking for clues to the murder, said they found a large stone near a pool of blood which they thought was the murder weapon.
There were footprints of one man around the scene.
A degenerate who police said had been molesting small girls in the vicinity was sought for questioning.
The girl lived between here and Holt, a town about six miles distant.
She left for the Holt school this morning and when she failed to arrive school authorities telephoned her parents.

State police, called by the frantic parents, instituted search and found the body.

Borah And Couzens In Lively Tilt Over Future Plan For G.O.P.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—While the capital air is filled with heated language, Republican taunts and counter-taunts, it did not appear today there is going to be any reorganization of the Republican party—at least for the time being.
Senator William E. Borah, the Idaho lone wolf who insurges between presidential elections, but always votes regular, wants Henry P.
Fletcher to retire as national chairman and thus pave the way for "liberal" reorganization and leadership of a party.
Chairman Fletcher has no intention of resigning. To do so at this time, he said, would "plunge the party organization into confusion."
Fletcher plans to stay at the helm, certainly for the time being, and possibly until the next national convention unless Borah can find support enough to force his resignation.
There is believed to be scant chance of that.

A sudden shift in the wind, of near gale proportions, which had driven the blaze before it, despite the frantic efforts of firemen from Burbank, Glendale and Hollywood to check, saved all of the huge, costly sound stages, and administration buildings on the studio lot.

It was the first fire of major proportions to occur in any Hollywood studio in the modern history of motion picture making, it was said.

Loss May Be $500,000
While studio officials refused to make any definite statement regarding the loss, as did fire department officials, one studio attache unofficially estimated the damage at $500,000.

Al Rouser, chief of the studio fire department, succumbed to a heart attack during the height of the fire.

Rouser, who directed the battle against the blaze until the five departments from surrounding cities arrived, was overcome by smoke shortly after midnight.

Physicians declared the death was due to heart disease.

As far as could be learned no other persons sustained serious injuries.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The United States will withdraw from the London naval discussions the moment Japan serves formal notice of its intention to denounce the Washington naval treaty, it was learned on reliable authority today.

American Ambassador Norman H. Davis, chief of the American delegation to the discussions, already has been informed that this government expects him to withdraw from the conversations unless the basis for an agreement has been reached before Japan serves notice of termination.

Japan is still adamant in its demand for full naval equality, it was admitted that at the moment there appeared no prospects of an agreement.

Authoritative quarters here believed Japan probably would serve notice of termination of the Washington treaty about the 20th of this month.

New Post Office Dedication Is Set For December 15

New Castle's new post office on the diamond will be formally dedicated at public ceremonies on Saturday, December 15, Postmaster Richard A. Steen announced this afternoon as he arrived here from a hurried trip to Washington, D. C.

Third Assistant Postmaster General Clinton B. Eilenberger, he said, will deliver the dedicatory address.

The postmaster went to Washington to offer Postmaster General James A. Farley a personal invitation to come here for the dedication, but Mr. Farley's December program is filled. Other duties prevented him from accepting.

Postmaster Steen could not say on his arrival whether the new building will be opened for use on December 15. A delay in the arrival of office equipment will likely postpone actual occupancy of the new building, but how long the postponement will be, could not be said today.

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
LANSING, Mich., Dec. 5.—Criminally assaulted and then brutally murdered by blows on the head from a blunt instrument, the body of a 12-year-old schoolgirl, Leone Love, was found today stuffed in a culvert on a road just outside the city limits.

State police, looking for clues to the murder, said they found a large stone near a pool of blood which they thought was the murder weapon.

There were footprints of one man around the scene.

A degenerate who police said had been molesting small girls in the vicinity was sought for questioning.

The girl lived between here and Holt, a town about six miles distant. She left for the Holt school this morning and when she failed to arrive school authorities telephoned her parents.

State police, called by the frantic parents, instituted search and found the body.

Without her husband, Heber Westover, the 23-year-old wife attended the services for her tiny son, victim of bullets fired by his father.

The boy, Wendell Westover, was buried in a rural Indiana county churchyard while the father awaited prosecution on a charge of murder in connection with the shooting.

Meanwhile, Charles, four-months-old son of the Westovers, continued to fight for his life at the hospital, two bullet wounds in his abdomen.

HONOLULU, T. H., Dec. 5.—Fate of Capt. Charles T. P. Ulm and his two British companions, Navigator J. A. Skilling and Co-pilot G. M. Littlejohn, forced down on the Pacific in their twin-motored monoplane "Star of Australia," was still shrouded by the silent sweep of ocean today.

Throughout the night the search was maintained by 17 U. S. navy vessels and a host of Japanese fishing sampans which were instructed to keep a lookout for the ill-fated monoplane.

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special to The News.)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 5.—In legal game, two California college students vs. U. S. Supreme Court, U. S. Supreme Court wins. Score: Court 9, Students 0. College boys get awful smart nowadays, but that old Supreme Court has still got quite a bit on the ball.

Speaking of colleges, I feel real sorry for Huey Long. I believe his team was as good as Tulane (if not better), but they didn't kick goal after touchdown.

The first bill to be passed by the next sovereign state of Louisiana's Legislature will read as follows: "In accordance with, and in defense of state rights, any football kicked through goal is a goal after touchdown."

It's the one bill that he overlooked last fall, so he has nobody to blame but himself for not being in the Sugar Bowl New Year's Day.

Will Rogers

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 5.—
Smoking ruins today marked
the path of a disastrous fire
which raged for some hours in
National Studio in Dark Canyon.

The flames were brought under control after a four-hour battle.
Estimates of loss ran into hundreds
of thousands of dollars.

A sudden shift in the wind, of near gale proportions, which had driven the blaze before it despite
the frantic efforts of firemen from Burbank, Glendale and Hollywood
to check, saved all of the huge,
costly sound stages, and administration buildings on the studio lot.

It was the first fire of major proportions to occur in any Hollywood
studio in the modern history of mo-

Loss May Be $500,000

While studio officials refused to make any definite statement regarding the loss, as did fire department officials, one studio attache unofficially estimated the damage

at $500,000.

Al Rouser, chief of the studio
fire department, succumbed to a heart attack during the height of the fire.

Rouser, who directed the battle against the blaze until the fire departments from surrounding cities
arrived, was overcome by smoke
shortly after midnight.

Physicians declared the death
was due to heart disease.

As far as could be learned no
other persons sustained serious in-

Repeal is a year old today.

It's rather a peculiar coincidence
that the best appearing street mark-

Pa New is asked by a citizen

The walls looked fine when first
built, but the covering of weeds doesn't look so good," said the citizen.

Another successful hunter of New Castle, is Thomas Strasbaugh of

deer.

Michael Bertz, 305 Eddy street,
has returned from a hunting trip

an eight point buck, weighing 180
pounds.

Tony Ginocchi, 318 Home street,

Three More Cabinet Posts Are Now Filled

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—With
three additional names added to
the roster of his cabinet, Governor-elect George H. Earle today turned his attention to the vital posts of
secretary of mine and secretary of labor and industry. These, he intimated, are the only two cabinet offices for which he has not yet decided upon his selections.

Following a strenuous day of conferences with Democratic leaders,
the governor-elect last evening revealed his choices for three cabinet

jobs.

plies Earle named Arthur Colegrove,
Corry newspaper publisher and Erie
County Democratic chairman.

Ralph M. Bashore, Pottsville attorney, was appointed secretary of
forests and waters.

To fill the position of adjutant general of the Pennsylvania National Guard Col. Frederick Kerr,
of Clearfield, was chosen.

remuneration for each of the three posts.

The only two brother Federal judges in the country, Franklin Kennamer (top) of Tulsa, Okla., and Charles Kennamer (below) of Montgomery, Ala., are the father and uncle, respectively, of (left) Philip Kennamer, 19, of Tulsa, who is being held on the charge of killing John Correll. Young Kennamer says he killed Correll to protect Virginia Maddux (right) from extortion threats, but police believe other factors were involved. (Central Press)

FATHER-SLAYER

(International News Service)
INDIANA, Pa., Dec. 5.—Sorrow-fully returning from the funeral of her 21-year-old son, Mrs. Olive Westover remained at home here today, torn between a dual responsibility to her other baby, lying critically wounded in Indiana hospital, and her husband, sitting in a bleak jail cell.

Without her husband, Heber Westover, the 23-year-old wife attended the services for her tiny son, victim of bullets fired by his father.

The boy, Wendell Westover, was buried in a rural Indiana county churchyard while the father awaited prosecution on a charge of murder in connection with the shooting.

Meanwhile, Charles, four-months-old son of the Westovers, continued to fight for his life at the hospital, two bullet wounds in his abdomen.

Believe Arrest Of Hamilton Is Near

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Apprehension of John Hamilton, last of the John Dillinger desperadoes still at large, was believed imminent today as federal agents secretly questioned the petite widow of George "Baby Face" Nelson, recently slain public enemy No. 1.

An air of tense expectancy prevailed at department of justice headquarters where Nelson's 21-year-old widow, Mrs. Helen Gillis, was held under close guard since her secret arrest Thanksgiving night.

Melvin H. Purvis, Chicago head of the federal division of investigation, suddenly departed on "an urgent mission" that took him out of the city.

Purvis, the youthful nemesis of Dillinger and Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, left unaccompanied. His mission, it was reported, was to bring about the capture of the blundering but ruthless Hamilton.

Inspector H. H. Clegg was in command of the manhunt here. Other than to confirm the departure of Purvis, he declined to say more.

PRESIDENT TO LEAVE FOR WASHINGTON

Return Trip To Be Made By Rail

Roosevelt Announces Continuation Of Cotton Crop Regulating TRAIN CONFERENCES ARE ON SCHEDULE

(International News Service) WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Dec. 5.—President Roosevelt today announced that he will return to Washington, leaving behind him a new blessing in the form of an announcement that the government will continue to regulate supply and demand as it sees best through the medium of reduction of planting in cotton.

Mr. Roosevelt's special train will pull out of Warm Springs at 2:30 p. m., and tomorrow at noon he will be back in the nation's capital. Today's announcement came as no definite surprise. At the same time it served notice on agriculture that the president expects to continue to seek what he calls a parity in the product produced by the farmer.

The cotton question was the last one peculiar to the south which occupied the mind of the president before he left here to ride northward to his White House desk. Budget, relief and his new corollary, housing, have been gone over by the president thoroughly during the past few days. It will continue as the subjects uppermost in the presidential mind as the executive moves toward Washington.

Already there have been several important conferences regarding the question of next year's program. These conferences will be continued on the train.

BORAH AND COUZENS IN LIVELY TILT OVER FUTURE FOR G. O. P.

Injection of personal feelings into the situation has only served to complicate matters. Borah and Senator Couzens (R) of Michigan, who used to be close friends—so close that in 1924 Couzens, the senate's richest man, offered to finance Borah's candidacy for the presidency against Calvin Coolidge—have had a spectacular falling out.

In reply to Borah's demand for party reorganization, Couzens rather impishly proposed that Borah himself take over the party chairmanship and write the platform.

"Who is Senator Borah to shout

liberalism?" asked Couzens. "He never voted in his life for a liberal president."

Couzens reference was to the fact that Borah supported William H. Taft against "T. R." in 1912, supported Hughes in 1916, Coolidge in 1924 and Hoover in 1928 and 1932. Would Tax Tax-Exempt Securities. Borah's anger flared when informed of Couzens' statement.

If he wants a platform, I'll give him one," said the Idahoan. "I'll give him a platform headed by a plank to tax tax-exempt securities."

This was a thrust at Couzens' personal fortune, estimated to be around 30 million dollars, and reported to be invested in tax-exempt securities. To this Couzens retorted that he would vote to put a tax on this type of securities anytime that Senator Borah offered one in the senate. Couzens has never denied that a good part of his fortune is invested in these securities. And he believes they should be taxed. His position has been that so long as tax-exempt securities exist, there is no reason why he should not invest his money in them.

Other senate Republicans are privately deploring the washing of party lines in public, but themselves are saying nothing.

Purvis, Clegg refused to discuss the questioning of Mrs. Gillis or the progress of the investigation.

Asked directly if the government already had Hamilton in custody Clegg replied:

"I will neither affirm or deny the report. I refuse to say anything."

The woman of seven aliases is facing possible federal charges of complicity in the murder of Federal Inspector Samuel P. Cowley and Special Agent Herman E. Hollis Nov. 27 at Barrington, Ill. It was announced in Washington.

Nelson was fatally wounded in the Barrington gun battle and his body was found one week ago at Niles Center.

May Be In Custody

Washington, Dec. 5.—A new mystery gunman, said to have been the companion of "Baby Face" Nelson in that slain criminal's fatal battle with U. S. agents Samuel Cowley and H. E. Hollis near Barrington, Ill., eight days ago, was believed to be in federal custody at Chicago today.

Attorney General Cummings and department of justice agents here refused to affirm or deny the reported arrest. The gunman was believed to have been the companion who escaped with Mrs. Helen Gillis, Nelson's wife, when Cowley and Hollis were slain, and Nelson fatally wounded, in the Barrington battle. Mrs. Gillis' arrest on Thanksgiving day was kept secret until yesterday.

The blaze originated in the studio lumberyard, it was said.

One studio official told the International News Service that about 40 acres of the 78 acres in the lot was burned over by the fire.

As soon as the fire was under control hastily mobilized studio workers began the task of removing debris and preparing for reconstruction.

"Dizzy" Dean Is Signed Up By Cardinals

Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, World Series Hero, Asks For $25,000 Next Year

(International News Service) ST. LOUIS, Dec. 5.—"Dizzy" Dean, star pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, and hero of the club's spectacular late season pennant and world championship drive, has signed with the Cardinals for 1935.

Sam Breadon, president of the local National League club, announced here today.

Breadon said the contract was for one year but in keeping with his usual custom of not making public the salaries paid members of the Cardinals did not disclose what the services of the great pitcher are to cost the management.

Recently Dean was quoted as saying that he would not sign for less than $25,000 a year.

Breadon said that he had received a long distance telephone call from Dean from Bradenton, Fla., this morning in which the pitcher told him that his contract was signed and in the mail.

December And May Romance Denied

New Jersey Girl, 20, Denies She Is Wedded To Former Employer, Aged 74

(International News Service) WOODSTOWN, N. J., Dec. 5.—Pretty Elizabeth Danner, 20, and Marvin Fey, 74-year-old retired banker of Tamaqua, Pa., were back under the Danner roof here today.

But, an elopement?

"I never thought of eloping with Mr. Fey," Elizabeth announced. "I have no intention of getting married."

"Yes, Mr. Fey is at our house now. He is visiting as a friend of the family."

Thus, did the comely girl who formerly worked as a domestic in Fey's Tamaqua home explode the elopement story which went the rounds when she and Fey, accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Danner, took an automobile ride yesterday. It was reported they were enroute to Media, Pennsylvania's Gettysburg.

What Fate Awaits? SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—What will be the fate of Capt. Charles T. F. Uhl and his two flying companions, J. A. Skilling and G. M. Littlejohn, forced down in their monoplane, "Star of Australia," in the Pacific ocean off the Hawaiian Islands?

This question worried friends of the three men here today. In a thrilling history, four other planes have met a similar, spectacular situation between here and Honolulu. The occupants of only one of these four planes ever lived to tell their story; the others perished without even a trace of their ship being left on the ocean surface.

Commander John Rogers, U. S. N., and three men—the first to cross the wide sweep of ocean from San Francisco to Hawaii—were forced down in September, 1925. After floating nearly 200 hours, they were picked up by a steamer 60 miles from Hawaii.

It was hectic tale that Rogers and the others related following their rescue. Their water supply early became exhausted and the four men were forced to rip canvas from their plane and catch rain-drops.

The three planes that were lost carried seven persons, including one woman, to their deaths. One of these planes was the rescue ship of Captain William P. Erwin and Navigator A. H. Elchwald.

The deaths of these seven persons took place during the famous Dole Air Tour, August, 1927, during which only two planes successfully made the dangerous 2,400-mile hop.

Uhl has experienced terrifying moments over the Pacific before. In 1928 he was co-pilot with Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, who together with two Americans, Harry Lyon and James Warner, flew in the historic "Southern Cross" from Oakland, Cal., to Brisbane, Australia.

While between Honolulu and Sava, P.I. Island, on the second leg of that dramatic flight, the Southern Cross ran into a rain storm that nearly caused it to crash.

SEARCHERS FAIL TO LOCATE PLANE OF FLYING TRIO

day a frantic S. O. S. was flashed from the plane—"We are going down into the sea now..."

The S. O. S. was preceded by a series of pleading messages "stand by to pick us up—out of fuel—plane will float two days."

The plane was believed within a 200-mile radius of Honolulu but its approximate location was unknown.

The last reported position of the plane, enroute from Oakland to Honolulu on the first leg of a trans-Pacific flight to Australia, was given by the Dollar Line President Coolidge at 7:15 a. m. (P. S. T.) At that hour the plane passed over the Coolidge several hundred miles northeast of Honolulu.

Plane Not Sighted

The Coolidge, believed nearest to the spot where the plane is believed to have made the forced landing, immediately turned from her course toward Honolulu when the S. O. S. was picked up.

The Coolidge radioed last night: "Advise all press nothing of the plane has been sighted. Search still continues, but have very little hope of sighting plane."

Hope that flares, known to be aboard the plane, would be sighted last night by some of the numerous vessels participating in the search, vanished as the night wore on. It was believed the flares may have been drenched in water when the plane struck the surface.

The navy vessels, coordinated in a systematic search of the sea 300 miles off Hawaii, scoured the water in 20-mile parallels with orders to "constantly sweep their searchlights."

Many In Patrol

Among the ships patrolling the ocean are the destroyers, Bessie, Gamble and Montgomery; minesweepers, Beaver, Widgown and Sengull, nine submarines and the coast guard cutters Itasca and Tiger.

Navy officials instructed the vessels to concentrate the search northeast of Honolulu in the belief the plane is floating in this section due to the fact Uhl passed over the Dollar Line Coolidge in this locality while nearing Honolulu.

Shortly after the intrepid airman sent their greeting to the Coolidge "passing over us now," a series of frantic calls were flashed asking that the radio beacon on Oahu Island be turned on.

The beacon had been on for several hours prior to the plea. Uhl then declared "I guess we're lost please try to give us our bearing."

Rain squalls encountered during the flight, coupled with the obvious deviation from the course, were believed responsible for the exhaustion of the 650 gallons of gasoline which was poured into the tanks of the plane before it took off. The twin engines consumed an estimated supply of 28 gallons an hour.

What Fate Awaits? SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—What will be the fate of Capt. Charles T. F. Uhl and his two flying companions, J. A. Skilling and G. M. Littlejohn, forced down in their monoplane, "Star of Australia," in the Pacific ocean off the Hawaiian Islands?

Return Trip To Be Made By Rail

Roosevelt Announces Continuation Of Cotton Crop Regulating

TRAIN CONFERENCES ARE ON SCHEDULE

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—President Roosevelt today prepared to leave here for his return trip to Washington, leaving behind him a new blessing in the form of an announcement that the government will continue to regulate supply and demand as it sees best through the medium of reduction of planting in cotton.

Mr. Roosevelt's special train will pull out of Warm Springs at 2:30 p. m., and tomorrow at noon he will be back in the nation's Capital. Today's announcement came as no definite surprise. At the same time it served notice on agriculture that the president expects to continue to seek what he calls a parity in the product produced by the farmer.

The cotton question was the last one peculiar to the south which occupied the mind of the president before he left here to ride northward to his White House desk.

Budget, relief and its new currency, have been gone over by the president thoroughly during the past few days. It will continue as the subjects uppermost in the presidential mind as the executive moves toward Washington.

Already there have been several important conferences regarding the question of next year's program. These conferences will be continued on the train.

"Who is Senator Borah to shout

liberalism?" asked Couzens. "He never voted in his life for a liberal president."

Couzens' reference was to the fact that Borah supported William H. Taft against "T. R." in 1912, supported Hughes in 1916, Coolidge in 1924 and Hoover in 1928 and 1932.

Would Tax Tax-Exempt Securities. Borah's anger flared when informed of Couzens' statement.

"If he wants a platform, I'll give him one," said the Idahoan. "I'll give him a platform headed by a plank to tax tax-exempt securities."

This was a thrust at Couzens' personal fortune, estimated to be around 30 million dollars, and reported to be invested in tax-exempt securities.

To this Couzens retorted that he would vote to put a tax on this type of securities anytime that Senator Borah offered one in the senate.

Couzens has never denied that a good part of his fortune is invested in these securities. And he believes they should be taxed. His position has been that so long as tax-exempt securities exist, there is no reason why he should not invest his money in them.

Other senate Republicans are privately deploring the washing of party lines in public, but themselves are saying nothing.

Washington, Dec. 5.—A new mystery gunman, said to have been the companion of "Baby Face" Nelson in that slain criminal's fatal battle with U. S. agents Samuel Cowley and H. E. Hollis near Barrington, Ill., eight days ago, was believed to be in federal custody at Chicago today.

LOSERS IN CONTEST BANQUET WINNERS

Last evening in the dining room of the First Baptist church, a jolly group gathered, the guests being E. M. girls, taught by Miss Marie Hogue, who were being feted at a dinner.

One long table was attractively decorated with places arranged for 23. The centerpiece was clever, being formed of a large cardboard turkey dotted up in silver and blue, instead of the usual brown, and it was surrounded by luscious fruit. Purple tapers in jet holders adorned either end of the table, and at each place were tiny cellophane favors.

After enjoying the very delicious menu served by the Ducks, the girls presented one of their number, Mrs. James Pringle, formerly Mary Cooper, with a lovely gift.

FAREWELL SHOWER FOR MRS. I. W. TATE

Welcome glowed from every light on a pretty tree in the reception hall of Mrs. Ira Blair, Beckford street, Tuesday evening, when she entertained the members of the Mothers' class of the Primitive Methodist church for the annual Christmas party. Throughout the home were decorations suggestive of the holidays.

Mrs. George Smith was in charge of a program, in which Mesdames Sutton, Rayburn and Mackenzie took part. Lois Blair sang "Holy Night" with her mother at the piano and her sister Harriet playing a violin accompaniment.

At this time a large red basket was brought into the living room and from this each person drew a package, which contained a gift from some member of the class.

A most delicious lunch, with holiday appointments, was served by the hostess and her daughters, Lois and Harriet.

January 6 the group will meet with Mrs. George Cowmeadow, Frew Mill road.

SPRIT OF CHRISTMAS FEATURES CLASS PARTY

The Christmas Spirit abounded Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Abe Kildoo, Maryland avenue, when she entertained the members of the Loyal Band class of the Third United Presbyterian church at a holiday party.

Mrs. Ruth Gee presided over a short business session with Mrs. Mary Lewis in charge of the social hour program, which included songs, plays and a solo by Mrs. Elizabeth Harris.

When the evening was at its height Mrs. Elsie Leibor, for the class, presented Mrs. Kildoo, the teacher, with a beautiful gift in appreciation of her service. There followed an exchange of gifts among the members.

Mrs. Kildoo served a delicious menu of refreshments to the 46 present, assisted by the social committee of the class.

The January meeting will be at the church.

DELUGE OF BILLS

THE clerk of the House at Washington computes that at least 4,000 bills are already in course of preparation to be presented at the next session of congress. And the senators are reported to be busy. It is estimated that if they pour even one-third as many more into the congressional hopper the all-time record for attempted legislation at Washington will be smashed beyond recognition.

The reasons for this great oncoming flood of bills are not obscure. The last campaign was a promising campaign. Virtually every successful congressman is pledged to present one or a dozen bills, or more, on some local or national or international subject.

The representatives themselves may not be thoroughly "het up" on the subjects they are about to foster. And the efficient burial squads known as congressional committees will sink a vast number of the measures so that they will never come back. But the boys are going to introduce those bills, just as they promised.

It will make good business at the government printing office. The profit motive doesn't afflict that institution. But the bill flood is going to provide plenty of employment there—something not to be sneezed at in times like these.

FOR A SAFE HOLIDAY SEASON

The holiday season is designed to bring joy and happiness—but it likewise brings with it a vast amount of preventable misery because of the accident toll. The gravity of the problem is magnified by the fact that a large percentage of holiday accidents involve children. Hundreds of them are killed and thousands are needlessly injured every December.

Here are a few rules, issued by the National Safety Council, to help pass a safe and happy Christmas season:

Don't permit children to play in the streets—the old practice of hitching sleds to automobiles is especially hazardous.

Be extremely cautious in the matter of ice-skating—ice must be at least four inches thick before it can be trusted to sustain a large group.

Winter brings special automobile hazards, such as ice and snow, poor visibility and soft highway shoulders. Remember them—and drive accordingly.

Don't use candles on your Christmas tree—don't put it near a stove—don't use inflammable trimmings—don't permit it to dry out in the house after Christmas—don't fail to anchor it firmly—don't use light bulbs of greater strength than one firely candlepower.

These little hints are simple enough—there's nothing but common sense behind them, and they will cost nothing, in either time or money, to follow. And they may be the means of saving the lives of loved ones.

REGULATION FOR COLLEGE SPORTS

President James Rowland Angell of Yale has presumably expressed the utmost truth when he defends the strict regulation of sports in American colleges. His article which was written for the official program of the Yale-Harvard football game makes it plain that those institutions which put athletics above education are traitors to their trust.

Dr. Angell takes into consideration, of course, the value of inter-collegiate contests which develop the physical body, foster school spirit and provide healthy release of mind from the routine of study.

But he writes well when he says that in any college or university worthy of the name, sports must always be secondary and that valuable as are the peculiar privileges and rewards of a member of a university team, these are often purchased at too high a price. He adds that leading educational institutions have found it necessary to regulate sports partly to protect their strictly educational interests and partly to keep them from being purely commercialized.

One often wonders how many college men and women actually, at the time of graduation, have a large conception of how their educational training may be applied in later life. Yet the fundamental reason for such training is mind development plus application later.

Dr. Angell is indeed right when he insists that sports should retain their spontaneous and unselfish character and never be over-rated in comparison with academic training.

WITHIN 25 YEARS

The recent discoveries of the Byrd Antarctic expedition once more have dramatized the extraordinary progress that has been made in the technique of exploration since the ill-fated Scott expedition to the South Pole in 1911-1912.

It was less than 25 years ago that a scientific party, financed jointly by the British and dominion governments, broke through to the pole by sledge. But adverse weather, lack of food and illness so hampered the party that it perished to a man and, since they had no communication with the outside world, nothing would have been known about their exploit and its tragic sequel if a searching party had not found their last camp.

Today in the British museum one may see the notebook that belonged to Robert Falcon Scott, the leader of the expedition, turned to its last page, with the record of his knowledge that he and his companions would never return home, and the pitifully scrawling plea, written by a dying hand, "For God's sake look after our people!"

Equipped to explore by air, Admiral Richard E. Byrd's party has mapped far more territory in a few hours than Scott and his men could cover in as many months, and the world is immediately informed of the achievement by radio. The need for heroism in the Antarctic has not been eliminated. Great dangers still exist. But in the last quarter of a century science has steadily reduced those dangers, while vastly increasing the capacity of man to explore one of the few areas heretofore concealed from his sight.

A free land is one where the citizen feels out of debt if he doesn't owe anybody but the government.

FIND THE RIGHT WAY BY SEEKING THE FUNDAMENTALS
Isn't it true that you waste much time in trying to find the easiest way?

The really easiest way is always the right way, and the right way is always the fundamental.

But your idea of the easiest way is to slide over or omit certain steps that may be fundamentally essential so it is no wonder that you try to find an easy way.

If you could use your intelligence to understand that the right way is always the easiest way, then a real start would be accomplished.

In trying to find the easiest way without having first done it the right way—that is understanding the necessary steps to make a perfect job—there is more time lost than there is in doing the job right.

You can't hold a job trying to find the fastest way to do things. You should want to learn the right way for your own sake.

When you hear something that would be of benefit to your employer do you hand him the information? It might make it easier for all of you, but you don't want to be bothered with new ideas presented by either workmen or employers.

This is the spirit that loses you your job sooner or later. So, refusing to do things the right way, you have it harder and lose out.

THE GEESE AND MEN
Jack Miner, friend to all the birds. Once said (I'm sure I quote his words):

"The smartest feathered creature loose Beyond all doubting is the goose. The wild geese winging through the sky Soon learn the paths where dangers lie."

And yet, he adds, "This also true One downright foolish thing to do. Though swift and certain is their flight They honk their coming, day and night."

High in the gray November skies With honk, honk, honk the wild geese fly. The hidden hunter smiles to hear The sound which tells the game is near.

"It's strange," says Jack, "I do not know Why they announce their coming so. Smart birds are they: few shots would kill If I could teach them to be still. But though death waits for them below, Still must they honk where'er they go."

Thinking of Jack today I pen These lines for all horn-honking men Who, like the geese, with brains endowed, Still sound their coming to the crowd.

And think that noise instead of care Will suffer make the thoroughfare. Blocked in a standing motor row Incessantly their horns they blow. And like the geese some never will Acquire the art of keeping still.

WORKS BOTH WAYS
In the Hood River Valley, near The Dalles, Oregon, an Indian, known locally as "Simon," picks wild huckleberries which he sells to the general store of H. F. Linse.

When Simon stopped at the Linse store recently, to buy some picket rope for his ponies, he was told, the NIA code had put the price up. The Indian paid the price under protest. A few days later he returned with a basket of berries, but refused the customary $1.00 a gallon price offered by Linse, who wanted to know "how come?"

"Injun ketchum code, too," said Simon: "huckleberries dolla six bits now."

He got his price.

Over in Europe they still think the best thing to do with the boys who knock the government is to either shoot them or cut their heads off. Anyhow it has been very effective so far.

It is said that knitting is being revived in many parts of the country, but the classes are having a hard time getting teachers. In the good old days every woman knew how to knit socks, scarfs, sweaters, and those old fashioned pulse heaters. The younger generation may know what a stocking or a sweater is, but how many would know a "pulse heater"?

France is said to be indignant because Uncle Sam has indicated that there is a payment of $22,000,000 due the United States on December 15. We saved her skin, but in view of subsequent events a lot of people would just as soon she had been "skunked."

The progress of events is too fast for the language and the word "overskirt" still gets into the public prints occasionally. There'll be just about as much sense in referring to a man's pants as "overpants."

Roosevelt Critics
Ickes Proves Strong Man
Battle Over Housing

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 46th street.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Critics of the Roosevelt administration on public spending soon may be withdrawing many of their criticisms.

The administration has serious figures. Actually, 40 million persons may be dependent this winter on public relief or public work.

BLAME
This writer has discussed the situation with a number of relief dispensers.

The dispensers are genuinely alarmed. They place much of the blame on the administration.

One relief dispenser says: "From month to month there is a hiatus until we know whether we are to continue—and how far we are to go. As a result, there is no program, there is nothing accomplished toward a solution."

One of the heads of a public works project believes there could be a partial solution if a long-time public works plan were adopted.

This man contends: "We could benefit society as a whole by proceeding on a permanent plan."

"As it is, there are costly beginnings and doubtful procedures. We do not know from month to month whether we are to continue."

Even such a simple thing as the purchase of pencils to draw plans takes months to negotiate."

POWERFUL
Commercial interests are powerful.

In Ohio a work-relief program put into effect by the state, for which unemployed were not to work in some idle factories, is being smothered after a noble start.

Some commercial interests said the plan interfered with business.

HOUSING
Housing is where the chief battle has been fought.

The Wall Street Journal states half the case:

"Decision of the Roosevelt administration to provide the underprivileged masses with housing they can't afford under private capitalism is philosophically just another triumph of human values over property values. Practically, it is the broadest socialistic step the New Dealers have yet proposed."

The other half of the case is this, as stated by Charles P. Stewart, Central Press Washington correspondent:

James Moffett of the federal housing corporation objected to the Ickes housing plan because it actually does threaten private business—the money lenders.

Stewart estimates that the interest on house borrowings under the "Moffett plan" would be 8 per cent under the Ickes plan, 3 per cent. But the Ickes plan would do more, according to Stewart: It would literally give a perpetual loan to the underprivileged. It would, in effect, provide merely a rental charge. The property would be public property.

And what is this, Stewart asks, except the Single Tax of Henry George, which is gaining increasing adherents as a means out of the depression.

The president evidently has decided to go part way on the Ickes program.

EXPLANATION
The Wall Street Journal correspondent offers an explanation on the president's "settlement" of the housing issue:

"Boiled down, the (his) decision is simply that the lowest income group in the United States should have better living conditions, even though it can't pay for them."

"Several explanations suggest themselves."

"First, the jobless must be fed, work relief is better than a dole, housing makes work and fills a real social need at the same time."

"Second, private capital, encouraged by a partial government guarantee against loss, is functioning well in providing housing for those who can afford it, so if the government wants to go in housing for work relief purposes it must either compete with private capital or seek a new field. Housing for people with very low incomes or no incomes at all is a field private capital is leaving strictly alone, naturally."

Third there is a strong undercurrent of belief in some administration circles that the New Deal's real opposition is on its left, not on its right.

"Fourth, whether the housing projects eventually prove self-supporting or not, they will bring in some revenue, and to that extent constitute a liquidating project and minimize the net addition to the public debt."

The amazing feature of all this discussion is the fact that all sorts of excuses have to be contrived in order for the government to provide housing for millions of its citizens—just for nothing, but at a less rate than money lenders are willing to charge.

TODAY Is The Day

By CLARK KINNAIRD Copyright 1934 Central Press

THE World War Day-By-Day—Dec. 5, 1914—Johann Heinrich Count von Bernstorff, 52, went to the state department to present to peace-loving Secretary of State William J. Bryan, the diplomatic but brilliant protests of his Majesty's Imperial German Government in answer to the Kaiser's message of munitions for Great Britain.

Gerard tells us in his invaluable "My Four Years in Germany" that when our Military Attache, Maj. Langhorne, left he had a farewell audience with the Kaiser and I then asked him to say to the Kaiser that I had not seen him for so long a time that I had forgotten what he looked like. Langhorne reported to me that he had given his message to the Kaiser and that the Kaiser said, "I have nothing against Mr. Gerard personally, but I will not see the ambassador of a country which furnishes arms and ammunition to the enemies of Germany."

Before the departure of Langhorne, I had succeeded in getting Germany to agree that six American army officers might visit Germany as military observers. They were not allowed to see much and their request to be attached to a particular unit was refused. Nearly everywhere they were subjected to insulting remarks or treatment because of the shipment of munitions of war to the Allies from America; and finally after they had been subjected to deliberate insults from the hands of several German generals, Mackensen particularly distinguishing himself, the U. S. government withdrew them.

There were Americans without a suspicion of German ancestry or the who believed with Berlin that the lions nude by J. P. Morgan & Co., and other bankers and the heavy shipments of munitions to the Allies were inconsistent with the true spirit of neutrality.

In this month, Democratic Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Nebraska, introduced a bill to lay an embargo on the shipment of arms, Secretary Bryan immediately informed the unscrupulous British ambassador that it not been introduced "at the suggestion of the administration." The influence of the man in the White House blocked its consideration.

In August the president had advised his fellow countrymen to remain neutral even in thought. But now he was giving his tacit approval to munitions exports. They increased eight times over in a few months and loosened a flood of "blood money."

History Up-To-Date—Dec. 5, 1056 Traditional date upon which Macbeth, Scottish king immortalized by Shakespeare, is supposed to have been killed at Lumphanan, Aberdeenshire. He had lived 17 years after he was nagged by Lady Macbeth into killing King Duncan to obtain the throne and provide the plot which Shakespeare lifted from another author nearly 300 years later.

(Shakespeare based his play on Raphael Holinshed's story of Macbeth in Chronicles of England and Scotland, still a well read classic.)

Dec. 5, 1560—Francis II, king of France, died at 16 and made Mary Stuart, Scotland's queen-to-be a widow at 18. They had been betrothed when she was 6, wed when she was 14.

Dec. 5, 1791—Wolfgang Mozart, died at 35 of typhus, and ended the career of one of the greatest musical geniuses of all time.

Ironically, his last work was the magnificent Requiem Mass, the composition of which was frequently interrupted by fainting fits.

No man had more enriched the world with music, but he was buried in a pauper's grave.

DELUGE OF BILLS

THE clerk of the House at Washington computes that at least 4,000 bills are already in course of preparation to be presented at the next session of congress. And the senators are reported to be busy. It is estimated that if they pour even one-third as many more into the congressional hopper the all-time record for attempted legislation at Washington will be smashed beyond recognition.

The reasons for this great oncoming flood of bills are not obscure. The last campaign was a promising campaign. Virtually every successful congressman is pledged to present one or a dozen bills, or more, on some local or national or international subject.

The representatives themselves may not be thoroughly "het up" on the subjects they are about to foster. And the efficient burial squads known as congressional committees will sink a vast number of the measures so that they will never come back. But the boys are going to introduce those bills, just as they promised.

It will make good business at the government printing office. The profit motive doesn't afflict that institution. But the bill flood is going to provide plenty of employment there—something not to be sneezed at in times like these.

FOR A SAFE HOLIDAY SEASON

The holiday season is designed to bring joy and happiness—but it likewise brings with it a vast amount of preventable misery, because of the accident toll. The gravity of the problem is magnified by the fact that a large percentage of holiday accidents involve children. Hundreds of them are killed and thousands are needlessly injured every December.

Here are a few rules, issued by the National Safety Council, to help pass a safe and happy Christmas season:

Don't permit children to play in the streets—the old practice of hitching sleds to automobiles is especially hazardous.

Be extremely cautious in the matter of ice-skating—ice must be at least four inches thick before it can be trusted to sustain a large group. Winter brings special automobile hazards, such as ice and snow, poor visibility and soft highway shoulders. Remember them—and drive accordingly.

Don't use candles on your Christmas tree—don't put it near a stove—don't use inflammable trimmings—don't permit it to dry out in the house after Christmas—don't fail to anchor it firmly—don't use light bulbs of greater strength than one fireproof candlepower.

These little hints are simple enough—there's nothing but common sense behind them, and they will cost nothing, in either time or money, to follow. And they may be the means of saving the lives of loved ones.

REGULATION FOR COLLEGE SPORTS

President James Rowland Angell of Yale has presumably expressed the utmost truth when he defends the strict regulation of sports in American colleges. His article which was written for the official program of the Yale-Harvard football game makes it plain that those institutions which put athletics above education are traitors to their trust.

Dr. Angell takes into consideration, of course, the value of intercollegiate contests which develop the physical body, foster school spirit and provide healthy release of mind from the routine of study.

But he writes well when he says that in any college or university worthy of the name, sports must always be secondary and that valuable as are the peculiar privileges and rewards of a member of a university team, these are often purchased at too high a price. He adds that leading educational institutions have found it necessary to regulate sports partly to protect their strictly educational interests and partly to keep them from being purely commercialized.

One often wonders how many college men and women actually, at the time of graduation, have a large conception of how their educational training may be applied in later life. Yet the fundamental reason for such training is mind development plus application later.

Dr. Angell is indeed right when he insists that sports should retain their spontaneous and unselfish character and never be over-rated in comparison with academic training.

WITHIN 25 YEARS

The recent discoveries of the Byrd Antarctic expedition once more have dramatized the extraordinary progress that has been made in the technique of exploration since the ill-fated Scott expedition to the South Pole in 1911-1912.

It was less than 25 years ago that a scientific party, financed jointly by the British and dominion governments, broke through to the pole by sledge. But adverse weather, lack of food and illness so hampered the party that it perished to a man and, since they had no communication with the outside world, nothing would have been known about their exploit and its tragic sequel if a searching party had not found their last camp.

Today in the British museum one may see the notebook that belonged to Robert Falcon Scott, the leader of the expedition, turned to its last page, with the record of his knowledge that he and his companions would never return home, and the pitifully scrawling plea, written by a dying hand, "For God's sake look after our people!"

Equipped to explore by air, Admiral Richard E. Byrd's party has mapped far more territory in a few hours than Scott and his men could cover in as many months, and the world is immediately informed of the achievement by radio. The need for heroism in the Antarctic has not been eliminated. Great dangers still exist. But in the last quarter of a century science has steadily reduced those dangers, while vastly increasing the capacity of man to explore one of the few areas heretofore concealed from his sight.

If only a great man could be aware of greatness in time to select a family that wouldn't embarrass him.

FIND THE RIGHT WAY BY SEEKING THE FUNDAMENTALS

Isn't it true that you waste much time in trying to find the easiest way?

The really easiest way is always the right way, and the right way is always the fundamental.

But your idea of the easiest way is to slide over or omit certain steps that may be fundamentally essential so it is no wonder that you try to find an easy way.

If you could use your intelligence to understand that the right way is always the easiest way, then a real start would be accomplished.

In trying to find the easiest way without having first done it the right way—that is understanding the necessary steps to make a perfect job—there is more time lost than there is in doing the job right. You can't hold a job trying to find the laziest way to do things.

You should want to learn the right way for your own sake.

When you hear something that would be of benefit to your employer do you hand him the information?

It might make it easier for all of you, but you don't want to be bothered with new ideas presented by either workmen or employers.

This is the spirit that loses you your job sooner or later.

So, refusing to do things the right way, you have it harder and lose out.

Sun sets tonight 4:35. Sun rises tomorrow 7:07.

Over in Europe they still think the best thing to do with the boys who knock the government is to either shoot them or cut their heads off. Anyhow it has been very effective so far.

About as near as some birds ever get to doing something worth while is to ask some one else to do it.

All you need to make any recovery scheme work is 120 million people eager to obey orders.

Jobless tourists in Florida this winter will have to work if they are supported at public expense. Florida is glad to see the tourists only if they have money.

It is said that knitting is being revived in many parts of the country, but the classes are having a hard time getting teachers. In the good old days every woman knew how to knit socks, scarfs, sweaters, and those old fashioned pulse beaters. The younger generation may know what a stocking or a sweater is, but how many would know a "pulse beater"?

America's wealth gives her no advantage over Japan. Try to feed a doughboy all week on a nickel's worth of rice.

One great danger of putting imbeciles and other no goods to death is that the wrong person may be selected for the execution. These days nuts seem to cut as much figure as those who know something.

The wrong man does in a small community stands out like a hitch hiker's thumb.

THAT BASHFUL AGE
"My, how bashful you are!" said the pretty girl to a young man.
"Yes, I take after my father in that respect, I guess," he said.
"Was your father bashful?"
"Was he? Mother says if father hadn't been so darn bashful, I'd be four years older."

France is said to be indignant because Uncle Sam has intimated that there is a payment of $22,000,000 due the United States on December 15. We saved her skin, but in view of subsequent events a lot of people would just as soon she had been "skun."

The progress of events is too fast for the language and the word "overshirt" still gets into the public prints occasionally. There'll be just about as much sense in referring to a man's pants as "overpants."

Japan has the right idea. The "superior race" in all ages is the one that can lick everybody else.

Yet if all were rich, who would get breakfast while the others snored till 10 a. m.

A ninety-five year old resident of Thassos Island, Greece, was recently married to a woman aged 34. He says he expects to live a long while yet and doesn't want to be lonesome. That's what we would term the height of optimism.

Now we are told that Mr. Hitler is the worst feared man in Europe for ages. Well, he sure does get away with those who do not agree

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Critics of the Roosevelt administration on public spending soon may be withdrawing many of their criticisms.

The administration has serious figures. Actually, 40 million persons may be dependent this winter on public relief or public work.

BLAME
This writer has discussed the situation with a number of relief dispensers.

The dispensers are genuinely alarmed. They place much of the blame on the administration.

One relief dispenser says: "From month to month there is a hiatus until we know whether we are to continue—and how far we are to go. As a result, there is no program; there is nothing accomplished toward a solution."

But your idea of the easiest way is to slide over or omit certain steps that may be fundamentally essential so it is no wonder that you try to find an easy way.

If you could use your intelligence to understand first the right way is always the easiest way, then a real start would be accomplished.

In trying to find the easiest way without having first done it the right way—that is understanding the necessary steps to make a perfect job—there is more time lost than there is in doing the job right. You can't hold a job trying to find the easiest way to do things.

You should want to learn the right way for your own sake.

When you hear something that would be of benefit to your employer do you hand him the information?

It might make it easier for all of you, but you don't want to be bothered with new ideas presented by other workmen or employees.

This is the spirit that loses you your job sooner or later.

THE GEESE AND MEN
Jack Miner, friend to all the birds, Once said (I'm sure I quote his words):

"The smartest feathered creature Beyond all doubting is the goose. The wild geese winging through the sky

Soon learn the paths where dangers lie.

And yet," he adds, "tis also true One downright foolish thing to do. Though swift and certain is their flight,

They book their coming, day and night."

High in the gray November skies With honk, honk, honk the wild geese flies.

The hidden hunter smiles to hear The sound which tells the game is near.

"Tis strange," says Jack, "I do not know Why they announce their coming so. Smart birds are they: few shots would kill

If I could lynch them to be still. But though death waits for them below, Still, must they honk where'er they go."

Thinking of Jack today I pen These lines for all honk-honking men.

Who, like the geese, with brains endowed, Still sound their coming to the crowd.

And think that noise instead of care Will suffer make the thoroughfare. Blocked in a standing motor row

Incessantly their horns they blow, And like the geese some never will Acquire the art of keeping still.

A few days later he returned with a basket of berries, but refused the $1.00 a gallon price offered by Lins, who wanted to know "how come."

"Injun keechum code, too," said Simon: "huckleberries dolla six bits now."

He got his price.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:35. Sun rises tomorrow 7:07.

Over in Europe they still think the best thing to do with the boys who knock the government is to either shoot them or cut their heads off. Anyhow it has been very effective so far.

A lady at the morgue asked to identify the body as her missing relative by what means she could, remembered that he stuttered.

About as near as some birds ever get to doing something worth while is to ask some one else to do it.

All you need to make any recovery scheme work is 120 million people eager to obey orders.

True, a managed country would get rich. And wildcats could run a headmill if you could manage the darned things.

Nothing, says science, is impossible. Well, try to get a wrong set right through the local agent of a distant corporation.

As you read this, 136,432 government employes in Washington are chanting: "See the man higher up."

Jobless tourists in Florida this winter will have to work if they are supported at public expense. Florida is glad to see the tourists only if they have money.

It is said that knitting is being revived in many parts of the country, but the classes are having a hard time getting teachers. In the good old days every woman knew how to knit socks, scarfs, sweaters, and those old fashioned pulsed knickers. The younger generation may know what a stocking or a sweater is, but how many would know a "pulsed knicker"?

America's wealth gives her no advantage over Japan. Try to feed a doughboy all week on a nickel's worth of rice.

One great danger of putting inebriates and other no goods to death is that the wrong person may be selected for the execution. These days nuts seem to cut as much figure as those who know something.

The wrong a man does in a small community stands out like a hitch hiker's thumb.

THAT BASHFUL AGE
"My, how bashful you are!" said the pretty girl to a young man.

"Yes, I take after my father in that respect, I guess," he said.

France is said to be indignant because Uncle Sam has indicated that there is a payment of $22,000,000 due the United States on December 15. We saved her skin, but in view of subsequent events a lot of people would just as soon she had been "skinned."

The progress of events is too fast for the language and the word "oversight" still gets into the public prints occasionally. There'll be just about as much sense in referring to a man's pants as "overpants."

Japan has the right idea. The "superior race" in all ages is the one that can lick everybody else.

Yet if all were rich, who would ret breakfast while the others slogged till 10 a. m.

But where you find "abundant cheap labor," you also find a bad shortage of good customers.

A ninety-five year old resident of Thassos Island, Greece, was recently married to a woman aged 34. He says he expects to live a long while yet and doesn't want to be alone. That's what we would term the height of optimism.

Now we are told that Mr. Hitler is the worst feared man in Europe for ages. Well, he sure does get away with those who do not agree

The World At A Glance

Roosevelt Critics
Ickes Proves Strong Man
Battle Over Housing

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th Street.

Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Critics of the Roosevelt administration on public spending soon may be withdrawing many of their criticisms.

The administration has serious figures.

Actually, 40 million persons may be dependent this winter on public relief or public work.

BLAME

This writer has discussed the situation with a number of relief dispensers.

The dispensers are genuinely alarmed. They place much of the blame on the administration.

One relief dispenser says:

"From month to month there is a hiatus until we know whether we are to continue—and how far we are to go. As a result, there is no program, there is nothing accomplished toward a solution."

One of the heads of a public works project believes there could be a partial solution if a long-time public works plan were adopted.

This man contends:

"We could benefit society as a whole by proceeding on a permanent plan."

"As it is, there are costly beginnings and doubtful procedures. We don't know from month to month whether we are to continue."

"Even such a simple thing as the purchase of pencils to draw plans take months to negotiate."

ICKES

Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, is proving the strong man of the administration.

His public works plans are honest, sincere and remunerative, according to public works men.

But Ickes is hedged on one side by politicians and on the other side by commercial interests.

POWERFUL

Commercial interests are powerful.

In Ohio a work-relief program put into effect by the state, by which unemployed were put to work in some idle factories, is being smoothed after a noble start.

Some commercial interests said the plan interfered with business.

HOUSING

Housing is where the chief battle has broken.

The Wall Street Journal states half the case:

"Decision of the Roosevelt administration to provide the underprivileged masses with housing they can't afford under private capitalism is philosophically just another triumph of human values over property values. Practically it is the broadest socialistic step the New Dealers have yet proposed."

The other half of the case is this, as stated by Charles P. Stewart, Central Press Washington correspondent:

James Moffett, of the federal housing corporation objected to the Ickes housing plan because it acc-

usually does threaten private business—the money lenders.

Stewart estimates that the interest on house borrowings under the Moffett plan would be 8.5 per cent under the Ickes plan, 3 per cent. But the Ickes plan would do more, according to Stewart: It would literally give a perpetual loan to the underprivileged. It would, in effect, provide merely a rental charge. The property would be public property.

And what is this Stewart asks, except the Single Tax of Henry George, which is gaining increasing adherents as a means out of the depression.

The president evidently has decided to go part way on the Ickes program.

EXPLANATION

The Wall Street Journal correspondent offers an explanation on the president's "settlement" of the housing issue:

"Boiled down, the (this) decision is simply that the lowest income group in the United States should have better living conditions, even though it can't pay for them."

"Several explanations suggest themselves. 'First, the jobless must be fed, CORRECTION!

Through a typographical error the other day, this column inadvertently said: "Donald R. Richberg . . . who once fought the railroad brotherhoods."

Of course the line was written in this manner: "Donald R. Richberg . . . who once fought for the railroad brotherhoods."

There was no more persistent and patient fighter for the railroad brotherhoods and for the anti-unionism act than Donald R. Richberg.

work relief is better than a dole, housing makes work and fills a real social need at the same time.

"Second, private capital, encouraged by a partial government guarantee, against loss, is functioning well in providing housing for those who can afford it, so if the government wants to go into housing for work relief purposes it must either compete with private capital or seek a new field. Housing for people with very low incomes or no incomes at all is a field private capital is leaving strictly alone, naturally."

"Third there is a strong undercurrent of belief in some administration circles that the New Deal's real opposition is on its left, not on its right."

"Fourth, whether the housing project eventually prove self-supporting or not, they will bring in some revenue, and to that extent constitute self-liquidating projects and minimize the net addition to the public debt."

The amazing feature of all this discussion is the fact that all sorts of excuses have to be contrived in order for the government to provide housing for millions of its citizens—not for nothing, but at a less rate than money lenders are willing to charge.

Bryan was courteous, evasive. Ambassador James W. Gerard already had informed the department of the state of feeling in Berlin over America's thriving business in contraband. The matter had been the subject of more than one conversation in Washington, and Bryan had been "sat upon."

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Comedy-Drama Will Be Given

Play On December 21 At Local Christian Church

Plans are being completed to present "The True Meaning of Christmas," a three-act comedy-drama, at the Madison Avenue Christian church on Friday evening, December 21.

The cast of characters follows:
Mrs. Thorne, the grandmother—Mrs. Mae Brumbaugh.
Mr. Thorne, the father—C. H. Clark.

Sue Thorne, eldest daughter—Mrs. Fannie Hultick.
Dorothy Thorne, second daughter—Thelma Brumbaugh.
Emily Thorne, youngest daughter—Delphine Jones.
Jimmy Thorne, only son, a true "thorn"—Stephen Hultick.
Tom Mason, Dorothy's sweetheart—Edward Bowen.
An old beggar woman—Mrs. C. H. Clark.

Through the entire play the thread of the plot tends to show for what Christmas really stands. The "Santa Claus" element is not placed in prominence, but rather the "Babe of Bethlehem," and his teachings. The Thorne family begins the ordinary preparations for Christmas. The next week they receive a letter telling them that their wealthy Aunt Ellen will visit them during the holidays and all is excitement in preparation. The rich aunt fails to come, however, but an old beggar lady, whom Emily has taken in out of the storm affords a mystery. There is a surprise for all at the last, and a true Christmas spirit pervades in the home.

No admission will be charged but a free-will offering will be taken.

New Troop Is Formed Tuesday

Second Troop Of Girl Scouts
Is Organized In Mahoningtown.

A new Girl Scout troop, with Miss Lucille McGee as leader, and Miss Henrietta Emrick of Sixth street, as lieutenant, was formed in Mahoning school building at 4 p. m. Tuesday.

Fourteen girls were enrolled. They were told some of the rudiments of scouting, taught some games and songs. All the girls are new to scouting and will start working for their tenderfoot badges.

This new troop was necessary because of the many requests for membership in Troop No. 16 of which Mrs. E. W. Guy is leader. To date there are now nearly a half hundred Girl Scouts in Mahoningtown.

TROOP NO. 16

Girl Scout troop No. 16 had a regular meeting at 4 p. m. Tuesday in Mahoning school. Ruth Taylor's class was in charge of the formal opening exercises.

The tenderfoot girls studied laws and signifying. Observation maps will be studied this week and first aid at the next meeting. Jane Belinger's patrol is preparing a Christmas play for presentation at the Christmas meeting.

The McGee Bible class will have its Thursday evening meeting at the Mahoning M. E. church instead of the home of Mrs. R. C. Cather as formerly planned.

Observations In 7th Ward

Where are all the deer reports from Mahoningtown hunters? So far only a few local men have reported success although this part of the city sent a large squad of red coats to the big game counties. Jesse Boak, the rural carrier of the Mahoningtown postoffice, got a ten-pointer.

A North Beaver township resident has been circulating a petition here in the past week or so—a petition asking congress to favorably on a 42¢ a month pension plan, for residents over 60 years of age.

Whoever printed this sign on a local store window must have had a cold: "Stewig Lamb."

Class Has Party Tuesday Evening

Christmas Party Enjoyed By
Look-Out Class In Mahoning M. E. Church

At 6 o'clock Tuesday evening 30 members of the Look-Out class were seated at two lovely tables in the Mahoning M. E. church and were served a delicious twelve dinner.

It was the annual Christmas party of the organization and the season was appropriately observed from the pretty Poinsettia decorated tables to the evening's program.

A short business meeting, opened by prayer, was in charge of the president, Mrs. M. R. Olmstead. Later the exchange of gifts, assembled under a Christmas tree, took place.

Dinner arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Chester Johnston, with Mrs. William M. King, Mrs. O. C. Kerr and Mrs. Anna Johnston as her aides. The entertainment was in charge of Mrs. Wilbur King, Mrs. Omer Mauck, Mrs. Clara Gortley and Mrs. Howard Gilmore.

Deer Are Shot By Local Men

William M. King, of North Cedar street, and Francis Givens, of Blanchard street, members of a large local hunting party, in the vicinity of Wharton, Pa., have been fortunate in getting deer, according to word received here.

Mr. King bagged a Y-antlered buck on the first day. Mr. Givens got a six pointer on Monday.

The hunters have not as yet returned to this city.

B. W. R. CLUB HAS PARTY LAST NIGHT

At a delightful Christmas party Tuesday evening, Mrs. George Fisher, of Richelle avenue, had as her guests the members of the B. W. R. club. Mrs. Flora Lichtenstein was associate hostess.

Mrs. H. H. McCombs received the club prize. Delicious refreshments were served at a table centered by a Christmas tree after gifts were exchanged.

Bingo was an interesting pastime, prizes being won by Mrs. William Sapper, Mrs. William Saltes and Gladys Taylor Hackett.

Plans for the annual club dinner in January were tentatively arranged and a committee to take charge was appointed as follows: Gladys Taylor Hackett, Mrs. Clarence Collingwood and Mrs. E. M. Johnston.

The regular January meeting will take place Tuesday evening, January 2, at the home of Mrs. Harriet Hulton, Walnut street.

BUS OPERATING

While the Taylor street sewer job has been in progress, and South Mill street traffic is delayed at that point, Mahoningtown street cars have been operated only part way, and passengers transported by bus from the eighth ward to the center of New Castle.

VETS WILL MEET

B. & O. Veterans and auxiliary members will gather in the city building this evening. The annual election of officers will take place.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Miss Eva Currans of McKees Rocks visited friends in seventh ward Tuesday.

Miss Frances Hyde of North Cedar street has returned to her studies at Allegheny college, Meadville, after spending the holidays here.

Question Jurors For Insult Trial

Two More Days May Be Needed To Get Complete Jury To Try Martin Insult

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Two more days may be required, it seemed certain today, to complete the jury which is to try Martin Insult before criminal court Judge Cornelius Harrington on charges of embezzlement and larceny growing out of the Insult utility empire collapse.

With four jurors accepted, the tiresome questioning of prospective jurors continued today.

The trial will probably last several weeks.

The defendant, a brother of Samuel, is charged with embezzling $2,270 from the $40,000,000 Middle West Utilities corporation and turning it to his personal stock market accounts.

Italy Will Enter New Naval Treaty

Italy Will Enter Agreement
Providing Japanese
Abrogate Washington
Pact

(International News Service)
TOKYO, Dec. 5.—Italy is prepared to enter into another naval treaty in the event Japan abrogates the Washington pact, the Italian ambassador told the Japanese foreign office, it was understood today.

Italy's stand was made known in connection with her refusal to join Japan in denouncing the Washington pact.

Ready To Join

Rome, Dec. 5.—Italy, as a world naval power, would naturally be ready to join any discussions for a new naval treaty, but would "much prefer" that the present treaties continue, it was stated at the foreign office today.

The Italian spokesman said the foreign office had not yet been informed of the nature of the conversation of the ambassador to Japan with foreign minister Koki Hirota.

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Dec. 5.—Ambridge council has washed its hands of the feud between Evangelist "Jackie" Burris and Burgess P. J. Caut, over the closing of the evangelist's tabernacle, a large frame structure, erected on borough property.

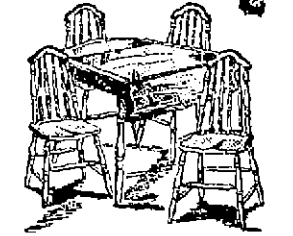

Last week the tabernacle was barricaded by police and the evangelist was placed in jail on a trespass charge following charges by Caut that the evangelist had offended other religious groups.

A hearing on the trespass charges against Burris, is scheduled to be held before the borough on Thursday. The evangelist, in the meantime, is preaching to capacity crowds at the Christian Alliance church.

Comedy-Drama Will Be Given

Play On December 21 At
Local Christian Church

Plans are being completed to present "The True Meaning of Christmas," a three-act comedy-drama, at the Madison Avenue Christian church on Friday evening, December 21.

The cast of characters follows: Mrs. Thorne, the grandmother—Mrs. Mae Brumbaugh.

Mr. Thorne, the father—C. H. Clark.

Sue Thorne, eldest daughter—Mrs. Fannie Hutnick.

Dorothy Thorne, second daughter—Thelma Brumbaugh.

Emily Thorne, youngest daughter—Delphine Jones.

Jimmy Thorne, only son, a true "thorn"—Stephen Hutnick.

Tom Mason, Dorothy's sweetheart—Edward Bevan.

An old beggar woman—Mrs. C. H. Clark.

Through the entire play the thread of the plot tends to show for what Christmas really stands. The "Santa Claus" element is not placed in prominence, but rather the "Babe of Bethlehem" and his teachings. The Thorne family begins the ordinary preparations for Christmas. The next week they receive a letter telling them that their wealthy Aunt Ellen will visit them during the holidays and all is excitement in preparation. The rich aunt fails to come, however, but an old beggar lady, whom Emily has taken in out of the storm affords a mystery. There is a surprise for all at the last, and a true Christmas spirit pervades in the home.

No admission will be charged but a free-will offering will be taken.

New Troop Is Formed Tuesday

Second Troop Of Girl Scouts
Is Organized In Mahoningtown

A new Girl Scout troop, with Miss Lucille McGuire of North Cedar street, as the leader, and Miss Henrietta Emerick of Sixth street, as lieutenant, was formed in Mahoning school building at 4 p. m. Tuesday.

Fourteen girls were enrolled. They were told some of the rudiments of scouting, taught some games and songs. All the girls are new to scouting and will start working for their tenderfoot badges.

This new troop was necessary because of the many requests for membership in Troop No. 16 of which Mrs. E. W. Guy is leader. To date there are now nearly a half hundred Girl Scouts in Mahoningtown.

TROOP NO. 16

Girl Scout troop No. 16 had a regular meeting at 4 p. m. Tuesday in Mahoning school. Ruth Taylor's patrol was in charge of the formal opening exercises.

The tenderfoot girls studied laws and signalling. Observation maps will be studied this week and first aid at the next meeting. Jane Bollinger's patrol is preparing a Christmas play for presentation at the Christmas meeting.

PLACE IS CHANGED

The McCoy Bible class will have its Thursday evening meeting at the Mahoning M. E. church instead of the home of Mrs. R. C. Cather as formerly planned.

Observations In 7th Ward

Where are all the deer reports from Mahoningtown hunters? So far only a few local men have reported success although this part of the city sent a large squad of red coats to the big game counties. Jesse Boak, the rural carrier of the Mahoningtown postoffice, got a ten-pointer.

A North Beaver township resident has been circulating a petition here in the past week or so—a petition asking congress to act favorably on a $200 a month pension plan for residents over 60 years of age.

Whoever printed this sign on a local store window must have had a cold: "Stewig Lamb."

Class Has Party Tuesday Evening

Look-Out Class In Mahoning M. E. Church

At 6 o'clock Tuesday evening 30 members of the Look-Out class were seated at two lovely tables in the Mahoning M. E. church and were served a delicious tureen dinner.

It was the annual Christmas party of the organization and the season was appropriately observed from the pretty poinsettia decorated tables to the evening's program.

A short business meeting, opened by prayer, was in charge of the president, Mrs. M. R. Olmstead. Later the exchange of gifts, assembled under a Christmas tree, took place.

Dinner arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Chester Johnston, with Mrs. William M. King, Mrs. O. C. Kerr and Anna Johnston as her aides. The entertainment was in charge of Mrs. Wilbur King, Mrs. Omer Mauck, Mrs. Clare Gortley and Mrs. Howard Gilmore.

Deer Are Shot By Local Men

William M. King, of North Cedar street, and Francis Givens, of Blanchard street, members of a large local hunting party in the vicinity of Wharton, Pa., have been fortunate in getting deer, according to word received here.

Mr. King bagged a Y-antlered buck on the first day. Mr. Givens got a six pointer on Monday.

The hunters have not as yet returned to this city.

B. W. R. CLUB HAS PARTY LAST NIGHT

At a delightful Christmas party Tuesday evening, Mrs. George Fish-er, of Richelleu avenue, had as her guests the members of the B. W. R. club. Mrs. Flora Lichtenstein was associate hostess.

Mrs. H. H. McCombs received the club prize. Delicious refreshments were served at a table centered by a Christmas tree after gifts were exchanged.

Bingo was an interesting pastime, prizes being won by Mrs. William Sapper, Mrs. William Baltes and Gladys Taylor Hackett.

Plans for the annual club dinner in January were tentatively arranged and a committee to take charge was appointed as follows: Gladys Taylor Hackett, Mrs. Clarence Collingswood and Mrs. E. M. Johnston.

The regular January meeting will take place Tuesday evening, January 2, at the home of Mrs. Harriet Hutton, Walnut street.

BUS OPERATING

While the Taylor street sewer job has been in progress, and South Mill street traffic detoured at that point, Mahoningtown street cars have been operated only part way, and passengers transported by bus from the eighth ward to the center of New Castle.

VETS WILL MEET

B. & O. Veterans and auxiliary members will gather in the city building this evening. The annual election of officers will take place.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Miss Evea Currans of McKees Rocks visited friends in seventh ward Tuesday.

Pinchot Says County Taxes Could Be Cut

Shows How Saving Of Over Half Million Could Be Made In Lawrence
County

WOULD RELIEVE PROPERTY OWNERS

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 5.—Governor Gifford Pinchot, in a statement issued today, points out to taxpayers how they can save millions of dollars in taxes, under plans which he has advocated to the state legislature, but which have never been carried out by them.

One of these was the taking over of 53,000 miles of second class township roads, which would have meant a saving of nine millions of dollars a year, or more than $5,000,000 in the four years of his term.

Another item was the ten per cent cut in teacher's salaries. This went through. While the governor expressed his regret at the necessity for doing this, it has prevented the closing of many schools altogether and has protected the teachers from the practice of secret and illegal salary cuts. It saved the taxpayers more than $12,000,000 in a time when they were hard pressed, the governor states.

Would Drop Fee System
Another measure advocated by the governor was to replace the fee system by fixed salaries in the collection of local taxes. It would have meant the saving to taxpayers of another $4,000,000 but was killed by the legislature.

This whole unfair system is doomed in the end, Governor Pinchot points out, but it will exist as long as officials who are paid on the fee system have more power with the lawmakers than taxpayers have.

Another item in the Pinchot plan is the consolidation of third and fourth class school districts, which would save $3,000,000 annually. The putting of poor relief on the county unit plan would have saved another $2,000,000, Pinchot states. A reduction of $4,000,000 in local real property taxes would have resulted from state collection of personal property taxes, and an income tax for school purposes would have saved the real estate taxpayer $10,000,000 per year.

Savings which would have been effected in Lawrence county by the abolishing of fees in collection of local taxes, would have been $47,518, the estimate shows. The consolidation of third and fourth class school districts, the sum of $43,499 would have been saved. By state collection of personal property tax, the sum of $20,160 would have been saved. The county unit of poor relief would have saved $34,190 in the county, while an income tax for school purposes would have brought in $135,000.

The average saving, Governor Pinchot points out, would have been 12 per cent of all local taxes levied on real property owners, and if Allegheny and Philadelphia counties were included, it would represent a savings in all other counties, of more than 17 per cent. The savings in Lawrence county would have totaled $632,520 or 15.5 per cent of savings to taxes levied.

Dr. A. R. DaFoe Is Surprised

Doesn't Know Why He Should Be Mentioned
For Nobel Prize

(International News Service)
TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 5.—Dr. A. R. DaFoe, Callander physician who has guided the Dionne quintuplets through more than six months of danger-fraught life, expressed astonishment at his nomination for the Nobel prize in medicine.

In an interview with the Toronto Star, he said: "They can't be serious about this nomination for the Nobel prize in medicine. I am not a man of science. I have contributed nothing to research. I have made no lasting discoveries of any kind. I can't take this thing seriously."

"It is too good to be true. It's what you newspaper fellows probably call the build up."

In reply to a question about the possibility his name will appear on King George's honor lists at New Years, the Callander physician replied: "Keep off the grass."

In reply to a question whether Mrs. Olivia Dionne, the mother of the quintuplets, was expecting another birth, the doctor said: "I don't really know. No, I really don't know I doubt very much if Mrs. Dionne knows either. If she did she would probably not tell me. I don't very often know until about a month ahead of time that my patients are going to have babies. It is not the French-Canadian way to tell of those things."

Pinchot Says County Taxes Could Be Cut

Shows How Saving Of Over Half Million Could Be Made In Lawrence
County

WOULD RELIEVE
PROPERTY OWNERS

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 5.—Governor Gifford Pinchot, in a statement issued today, points out to taxpayers how they can save millions of dollars in taxes, under plans which he has advocated to the state legislature, but which have never been carried out by them.

One of these was the taking over of 53,000 miles of second class town ship roads, which would have meant a saving of nine millions of dollars a year, or more than $35,000,000 in the four years of his term.

Another item was the ten per cent cut in teacher's salaries. This went through. While the governor expressed his regret at the necessity for doing this, it has prevented the closing of many schools altogether and has protected the teachers from the practice of secret and illegal salary cuts. It saved the taxpayers more than $12,000,000 in a time when they were hard pressed, the governor states.

Would Drop Fee System
Another measure advocated by the governor was to replace the fee system by fixed salaries in the collection of local taxes. It would have meant the saving to taxpayers of another $4,000,000 but was killed by the legislature.

This whole unfair system is doomed in the end, Governor Pinchot points out, but it will cost as long as officials who are paid on the fee system have more power with the lawmakers than taxpayers have.

Another item in the Pinchot plan is the consolidation of third and fourth class school districts, which would save $3,000,000 annually. The putting of poor relief on the county unit plan would have saved another $2,000,000, Pinchot states. A reduction of $4,000,000 in local real property taxes would have resulted from state collection of personal property taxes, and an income tax for school purposes would have saved the real estate taxpayer $10,000,000 per year. Savings which would have been effected in Lawrence county by the abolishing of fees in collection of local taxes, would have been $47,518, the estimate shows. In consolidation of third and fourth class school districts, the sum of $43,499 would have been saved. By state collection of personal property tax, the sum of $30,160 would have been saved. The county unit of poor relief would have saved $34,190 in the county, while an income tax for school purposes would have brought in $135,000.

The average saving, Governor Pinchot points out, would have been 12 per cent of all local taxes levied on real property owners, and if Allegheny and Philadelphia counties were excluded, it would represent a savings in all other counties of more than 17 per cent. Savings in Lawrence county would have totaled $53,520 or 15.5 per cent of savings to taxes levied.

On Court House Hill

State Highway District Engineer Kloss of Pittsburgh, was here yesterday and went over the new Volant-New Wilmington road in company with the county commissioners. There are some damage claims on this road that the commissioners have been endeavoring to get settled and Mr. Kloss came out to assist them.

Jury Commissioners George Forrest and B. Frank Thorn, with Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard, yesterday drew sixty traverse jurors for a term of common pleas court beginning on Monday, Jan. 14. Heretofore, for the past two years, fifty traverse jurors have been drawn but it has been found that after some are excused there are not enough, and the court has made an order for sixty jurors in the future.

The Mutual Benefit Association has issued an execution on the property of Wade E. Donaldson, at 620 First Avenue, Ellwood City. The amount of the claim is $1,609.60.

Will of the late Michael Burick, Jr., of Wampum, has been admitted to probate at the register and recorder's office. He left his interest in two lots in Chewton to Steve Burick, who is also named as executor.

Petition to amend a divorce application filed by Frank S. Inman against his wife, Martha Inman, has been granted by the court. The original petition alleged that desertion occurred January 1, 1932, whereas it should have read, November 29, 1932.

Under the will of the late Margaret Joyce of this city the bulk of her estate goes to her daughter, Mrs. Margaret McDonough, of Youngstown. Mrs. Florence Hoffman, who is also remembered in the will, is to be the executrix.

Attorney Wylie McCaslin has been named as executor of the will of the late Susanna B. Magee. After remembering her step-daughter, Annie Magee Williams and grandson, Grant Alexander, deceased, left the bulk of her property to her children, C. G. Alexander, W. L. Alexander, Lulu A. Amos and John B. Alexander.

Under the will of the late Melissa Burdick of Hickory township, her property is left to her daughter, Mrs. Hugh Robinson, who is also named as executrix.

Thomas N. White is named as executor of the will of the late Elizabeth M. White. Beneficiaries under the will are Thomas N. White, a brother, and Thomas N. White and John White, nephews.

Under the will of the late Ralph E. Ayers of Pulaski township, all of decedent's property is left to his wife, Luella Ayers, who is also named as executrix.

Union township citizens were at the court house yesterday looking up properties which will be affected by the proposed Union township sewer. They include the properties facing on the New Castle-Youngstown road, and those on the intersecting side streets. Under plans which have been worked out by the city and township authorities Union township will be allowed to connect to the city sewer. It is proposed to have the sewer laid as an RWD project, the only cost to the property owners being the sewer pipe. This district has been wanting a sewer for years, and the present is a golden opportunity to get at a very small expense.

For Nobel Prize

(International News Service)
TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 5.—Dr. A. R. DaFoe, Callander physician who has guided the Dionne quintuplets through more than six months of danger-fraught life, expressed astonishment at his nomination for the Nobel prize in medicine.

In an interview with the Toronto Star, he said:

"They can't be serious about this nomination for the Nobel prize in medicine. I am not a man of science. I have contributed nothing to research. I have made no lasting discoveries of any kind. I can't take this thing seriously."

"It is too good to be true. It's what you newspaper fellows probably call the build up."

In reply to a question about the possibility his name will appear on King George's honor lists at New Years, the Callander physician replied:

"Keep off the grass."
In reply to a question whether Mrs. Olivia Dionne, the mother of the quintuplets, was expecting another birth, the doctor said:
"I don't really know. No, I really don't know. I doubt very much if Mrs. Dionne knows either. If she did she would probably not tell me. I don't very often know until about a month ahead of time that my patients are going to have babies. It is not the French-Canadian way to tell of these things."

Pinchot Says County Taxes Could Be Cut

Shows How Saving Of Over Half Million Could Be Made In Lawrence
County

WOULD RELIEVE
PROPERTY OWNERS

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 5.—Governor Gifford Pinchot, in a statement issued today, points out to taxpayers how they can save millions of dollars in taxes, under plans which he has advocated to the state legislature, but which have never been carried out by them.

One of these was the taking over of 53,000 miles of second class township roads, which would have meant a saving of nine millions of dollars a year, or more than $35,000,000 in the four years of its term.

Another item was the ten per cent cut in teacher's salaries. This went through. While the governor expressed his regret at the necessity for doing this, it has prevented the closing of many schools altogether and has protected the teachers from the practice of secret and illegal salary cuts. It saved the taxpayers more than $12,000,000 in a time when they were hard pressed, the governor states.

Would Drop Fee System

Another measure advocated by the governor was to replace the fee system by fixed salaries in the collection of local taxes. It would have meant the saving to taxpayers of another $4,000,000 but was killed by the legislature.

This whole unfair system is doomed in the end, Governor Pinchot points out, but it will exist as long as officials who are paid on the fee system have more power with the lawmakers than taxpayers have.

Another item in the Pinchot plan is the consolidation of third and fourth class school districts, which would save $3,000,000 annually. The putting of poor relief on the county unit plan would have saved another $2,000,000, Pinchot states. A reduction of $4,000,000 in local real property taxes would have resulted from the collection of personal property purposes would have saved the real estate taxpayer $10,000,000 per year. Savings which would have been effected in Lawrence county by the abolishing of fees in collection of local taxes, would have been $47,518, the estimate shows. In consolidation of third and fourth class school districts, the sum of $43,439 would have been saved. By state collection of personal property tax, the sum of $20,160 would have been saved. The county unit of poor relief would have saved $34,199 in the county, while an income tax for school purposes would have brought in $135,000.

The average saving, Governor Pinchot points out, would have been 12 per cent of all local taxes levied on real property owners, and if Allegheny, Philadelphia and other counties were included, it would represent a savings in all other counties of more than 17 per cent. The savings in Lawrence county would have totaled $532,520 or 15.5 per cent of savings to taxes levied.

Dr. A. R. DaFoe Is Surprised

Should Be Mentioned
For Nobel Prize

(International News Service) TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 5.—Dr. A. R. DaFoe, Callander physician who has guided the Dionne quintuplets through more than six months of danger-fraught life, expressed astonishment at his nomination for the Nobel prize in medicine.

In an interview with the Toronto Star, he said:

"They can't be serious about this nomination for the Nobel prize in medicine. I am not a man of science. I have contributed nothing to research. I have made no lasting discoveries of any kind. I can't take this thing seriously."

"It is too good to be true. It's what you newspaper fellows probably call the build up."

In reply to a question about the possibility his name will appear on King George's honor lists at New Years, the Callander physician replied:

"Keep off the grass."

In reply to a question whether Mrs. Olivia Dionne, the mother of the quintuplets, was expecting another birth, the doctor said:

"I don't really know. No, I really don't know. I doubt very much if Mrs. Dionne knows either. If she did she would probably not tell me. I don't very often know until about a month ahead of time that my patients are going to have babies. It is not the French-Canadian way to tell of these things."

REVEAL VAST POWER OF

WORLD MUNITIONS MAKERS

By WILLIAM R. HUTCHINSON

International News Service Staff

Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The vast power of the world's munitions makers, who could revise international treaties to their own satisfaction, held the attention of the senate's munitions investigating committee today.

The American manufacturers were able to bend government departments to their will, according to the evidence. Already the inquiry has disclosed how the world's munitions manufacturers united whenever an international conference threatened to place some limitation on the sale of their weapons of warfare.

Their power was illustrated at Geneva in 1925 when the League of Nations sought a treaty for the control of traffic in munitions. The manufacturers objected to many restrictions in the league's original treaty. The final draft carried the reservations and changes suggested by the manufacturers and many of these were proposed by the American delegation.

It was in connection with this treaty that former President Herbert Hoover, then secretary of commerce, called a conference of American munitions makers to advise the American delegation. The Americans recommended a number of changes in the league's treaty, which the American delegation later sponsored and wrote into that document.

Friends of Hoover contend he called this conference at the instance of the state department. A representative of the E. I. DuPont de Nemours company said he called it at the suggestion of the late Senator Theodore E. Burton (R) of Ohio, then head of the American delegation to Geneva. In either case, the American manufacturers revealed they could reach into high places and in the end, got what they desired.

In reporting on Hoover's activity, another DuPont representative said: "We found Mr. Hoover very sympathetic and helpful." He further declared Hoover's action in calling the conference kept the Geneva parley from "adopting international agreements which would have been burdensome to American manufacturers."

A postcard informed friends that it was a "beauty."

LUPE AND HUSBAND JUST LIKE TO ARGUE

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Lupe Velazquez, Mexican movie and stage actress and her husband, John Weismuller, screen Tarzan, were back in New York today after a European trip and the first thing they did was to deny that they ever fight. Indeed they don't; they just "argue."

By way of demonstration they "argued" about the following matters:

Lamb chops which Weismuller had ordered for lunch and which Lupe said she didn't want.
The size of their chihuahua dogs in California.
Holes in her winter coat.
SOMERVILLE, Mass.—With a long, hard winter ahead, and with nothing in prospect but a park bench on Boston Common, Daniel J. McCarthy, 25, was indicted for a light luncheon at an appointed hour.

IS NAMED STEWARD

At the annual election of officers of the Casa Savola Society, last Sunday afternoon, Vincent De Caprio was elected steward for 1935. It was announced.

LEGISLATORS MAY HAVE WORRY ABOUT PAY

Funds Are Low Treasurer Says

Long Session Of Legislature Would Add To Problem Of Meeting Pay

NEW SOLONS ARE MUCH PERTURBED

By SYDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—Pennsylvania's harassed legislators had a new problem over which to frown today—how to pay their salaries for the 1935 session.

After scanning the latest state treasury report which showed Pennsylvania's bank balance shrinking away to almost nothing, comparatively speaking, the solons were given reason to feel perturbed over the prospects of making a full and prompt collection of their $2500 salaries for the legislative session beginning next January.

For their State Treasurer Charles A. Waters had only a brief word of comfort today. He said:

"I feel sure we will have enough to make a first payment at least."

He was referring to the first $500 installment which is customary for legislators to pay themselves at the end of the first week of the legislature.

But the state treasurer refused to commit himself concerning payment of the remaining $2,000 and the mileage expenses incurred by the lawmakers in traveling to and from their duties in Harrisburg.

Not Very Hopeful.

Waters had indicated the commonwealth will end the year with the general fund from which the legislative salaries and expenses are paid practically empty. Revenues for the remaining six months of the present biennium until July 1 are not even expected to keep pace with the expenditures for that period to say nothing of the expense of the legislative session and some $9,000,000 in preferred obligations already past due.

The legislature's salary cuts reducing the stipends from $3,000 to $2,500 for attendance at a regular session become effective in January but even so the state will have to

and $645,000 if it is to pay the 208 representatives and the 50 senators their full salaries.

If the session runs until June or July, as expected from present indications, another several hundred thousand dollars will be required for mileage, the per diem expenses of the numerous clerks and secretaries and the printing bill.

Fund Is Behind.

The general fund is now $9,000,000 behind and expenses are running about $2,000,000 a month ahead of income, according to treasury officials, so that a state deficit from between $2,700,000 to $3,000,000 is at this time expected to be written on the account books next July when the 1935-1936 biennium ends.

A suggestion that the representatives and senators turn themselves into "dollar a year men" to meet the emergency has been greeted with polite giggles thus far upon mention in political circles.

With Governor-elect George H. Earle determined to translate the Democratic platform into law, even the most optimistic of the legislators at present have little hope of ending the 1935 session until some time in June or July. For such a long stretch many were believed to feel they ought to collect the full $2500 as allowed by law.

Plan Inaugural Ball For Earle At Harrisburg

Democrats Will Celebrate Election Of First Democratic Governor In 44 Years

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—Lawrence county will be represented by Miss Marguerite Uhl of New Castle, on the executive committee for the inaugural ball planned for Governor-elect George H. Earle. Members of the committee will have charge of the sale of the tickets in their respective counties, the event not only honoring Earle, but also will benefit the families of the Kelayres political massacre.

Governor-elect Earle is the first Democrat to be elected to the governorship of Pennsylvania in 44 years, and the event is going to be properly celebrated by the Democrats.

Today

This Shocks England.
It Should Awaken The U. S. A.
Communists And Tailors.
We Are Refunding.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

WILL THOSE inclined to underestimate the importance of airplanes in the next war be good enough to read a few headlines that stretch in big type across the front page of the British newspaper, "The Sunday Referee?"

"Bombing Tests Alarm Naval Experts."
"Biggest Warships Prove to Be at Mercy of Air Attackers."
"Hits From a Height of 10,000 Feet."

THE BRITISH newspaper goes on to say:

"The Sunday Referee understands the admiralty is seriously concerned with the results of recent bombing experiments from the air."

"Up till fairly recently it has been maintained by the admiralty officials that a ship could not be attacked by airplanes with any hope of accuracy from 10,000 feet."

"Their arguments were two-fold—

"Although the full facts are known to many, their publication is not considered to be in the public interest."

"The Sunday Referee, however, feels that it is of urgent public interest to state that the bombing experiments have created an entirely new situation in official admiralty circles. In fact, so acute is that situation that the experts are now asking whether the day of the navy as England's main defense is not practically at an end."

"Britain spent 44,000,000 pounds last year on the navy. In the same period of time she spent 17,000,000 pounds on the air force. What has the battleship school to offer as a remedy now against the menace of air attack and blockade?"

COULD ANYBODY in Washington find time, in the midst of all the initials, to take some interest in this statement?

The French army admits that it is impossible to protect Paris against air attack, even if the attack were announced in advance.

The British navy now discovers that its battleships will merely be targets for airplanes in the next war. Will this country continue building battleships targets for the airplanes of other countries and neglecting its own air force?

And, how long will it continue the policy of making the air force an annex of the Army and Navy, whereas marching soldiers and floating ships should be a mere annex of the air force?

MR. WEST, of the Junior National Chamber of Commerce, says one million five hundred thousand Communists are plotting to overthrow this government.

The famous "seven tailors of Tooley street," beginning their ordium "We, the people of England," also planned to change things, but they did not. Mr. West's 1,500,000 Communists will not overthrow any.

thing either. Besides, they are not 1,500,000. The number of real enrolled Communists in this country is under 30,000, and there are perhaps 100,000 pale pink Communists.

If there were 1,500,000 there would still be about 122,000,000 Americans of a different color, determined to change this government in their way, if at all, and do it slowly.

YOUR GOVERNMENT needs one billion eight hundred and ninety-two million dollars, half cash, half in new bonds, to take care of indebtedness due December 15.

Nine hundred millions will be borrowed at interest, presumably, and new bonds, or at least new bonds bearing interest, will be put out. Having paid out millions of interest the government will owe as much as it did before.

MUST the government continue the foolish policy of paying interest on its own money when it can print the money and pay its debts?

Why not give 1,892,496,500 nice brand new green dollars to the holders of those two and a quarter per cent certificates that came due December 15, saying to the owners: "Here is nice new money. Spend it and help recovery."

AN OLD MAN of sixty walked along the railroad tracks near Allentown City, waiting for a train to come and kill him. It came. He died. His farewell message, urging police not to look for his relatives, mentioned "poverty, sickness, pain and no work" as good reasons for suicide.

A few days ago, a lady, once "rich and aristocratic," killed herself with gas, giving the words, "Oh, lonely, impoverished, despondent," as her reasons for leaving life. Much power is in words.

IT WAS suggested here yesterday, after Stalin's friend and associate, Kiroff, had been killed, that Stalin might find a wholesale way to discourage such murders.

He has begun finding them. Ten are reported executed within one hour of their arrest in connection with that shooting, and the Russian Parliament threatens, if necessary, to revive the "red terror" that wiped out thousands in the early days of the revolution. All connected, however remotely, with the assassination, are to be executed promptly.

IMPORTANT! The price per gallon of an anti-freeze means nothing unless you know how many gallons you will need during the Winter. You can't get that information on a boil-away anti-freeze—you don't know how many gallons you will need. But you can get it for Eveready Prestone... and here it is. See how reasonably you can get two-way protection all Winter long against both freeze-up and rust with one shot of Eveready Prestone—one shot because it won't boil off, no matter how warm the weather gets between the cold snaps. # LEGISLATORS MAY HAVE WORRY ABOUT PAY

Funds Are Low Treasurer Says

Long Session Of Legislature
Would Add To Problem
Of Meeting Pay

NEW SOLONS ARE MUCH PERTURBED

By SYDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff
Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—Pennsylvania's harassed legislators had a new problem over which to furrow their brows today—their salaries for the 1935 session.

Scanning the latest state treasury report which showed Pennsylvania's bank balance shrinking away to almost nothing, comparatively speaking, the solons were given reason to feel perturbed over the prospects of making a full and prompt collection of their $2500 salaries for the legislative session beginning next January.

For them State Treasurer Charles A. Waters had only a brief word of comfort today. He said:

"I feel sure we will have enough to make a first payment at least."

He was referring to the first $500 installment which it is customary for legislators to pay themselves at the end of the first week of the legislative session.

But the state treasurer refused to commit himself concerning payment of the remaining $2,000 and the mileage expenses incurred by the lawmakers in traveling to and from their duties in Harrisburg.

Not Very Hopeful.

Waters had indicated the commonwealth will end the year with the general fund from which the legislative salaries and expenses are paid practically empty. Revenues for the remaining six months of the present biennium until July 1 are not even expected to keep pace with the expenditures for that period to say nothing of the expense of the legislative session and some $9,000,000 in preferred obligations already past due.

The legislature's salary cuts reducing the stipends from $3,000 to $2,500 for attendance at a regular session become effective in January but even so the state will have to find $645,000 if it is to pay the 208 representatives and the 50 senators their full salaries.

If the session runs until June or, as expected from present indications, another several hundred thousand dollars will be required for mileage, the per diem expenses of the numerous clerks and secretaries and the printing bill.

Fund Is Behind.

The general fund is now $9,000,000 behind and expenses are running about $2,000,000 a month ahead of income according to treasury officials, so that a state deficit from between $18,000,000 to $30,000,000 is at this time expected to be written on the account books next July when the 1933-1935 biennium ends.

A suggestion that the representatives and senators turn themselves into "dollar a year men" to meet the emergency has been greeted with polite guffaws thus far upon mention in political circles.

With Governor-elect George H. Earle determined to translate the Democratic platform into law, even the most optimistic of the legislators at present have little hope of ending the 1935 session until some time in June or July. For such a long stretch many were believed to feel they ought to collect the full $2500 as allowed by law.

Plan Inaugural Ball For Earle At Harrisburg

Democrats Will Celebrate Election Of First Democratic Governor In 44 Years

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—Lawrence county will be represented by Miss Marguerite Uhl of New Castle, on the executive committee for the Inaugural Ball planned for Governor-elect George H. Earle. Members of the committee will have charge of the sale of the tickets in their respective counties, the event not only honoring Earle, but also will benefit the families of the Kelyres political massacre.

Governor-elect Earle is the first Democrat to be elected to the governorship of Pennsylvania in 44 years, and the event is going to be properly celebrated by the Democrats.

Communists And Tailors.
We Are Refunding.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

WILL THOSE inclined to underestimate the importance of airplanes in the next war be good enough to read a few headlines that stretch in big type across the front page of the British newspaper, "The Sunday Referee"?

"Bombing Tests Alarm Naval Experts."
"Biggest Warships Prove to Be at Mercy of Air Attackers."
"Hits From a Height of 10,000 Feet."

THE BRITISH newspaper goes on to say:

"The Sunday Referee understands the admiralty is seriously concerned with the results of recent bombing experiments from the air."

"Up till fairly recently it has been maintained by the die-hard admiralty officials that a ship could hardly be attacked by airplanes with any hope of accuracy from 10,000 feet."

"Their arguments were two-fold:

"Although the full facts are known to many, their publication is not considered to be in the public interest."

"The Sunday Referee, however, feels that it is of urgent public interest to state that the bombing experiments have created an entirely new situation in official admiralty circles. In fact, so acute is that situation that the experts are now asking whether the day of the navy as England's main defense is not practically at an end."

"Britain spent 44,000,000 pounds last year on the navy. In the same period of time she spent 17,000,000 pounds on the air force. What has the battleship school to offer as a remedy now against the menace of air attack and blockade?"

COULD ANYBODY in Washington find time, in the midst of all the initials, to take some interest in this statement?

The French army admits that it is impossible to protect Paris against air attack, even if the attack were announced in advance.

The British navy now discovers that its battleships will merely be targets for airplanes in the next war. Will this country continue building battleship targets for the airplanes of other countries and neglecting its own air force?

And, how long will it continue the policy of making the air force an annex of the Army and Navy, whereas, marching soldiers and floating ships should be a mere annex of the air force?

MR. WEST, of the Junior National Chamber of Commerce, says one million five hundred thousand Communists are plotting to overthrow this government.

The famous "seven tailors of Tooley street," beginning their exordium "We, the people of England," also planned to change things, but they did not. Mr. West's 1,500,000 Communists will not overthrow anything either. Besides, they are not 1,500,000. The number of real-estate Communists in this country is under 30,000, and there are perhaps 100,000 pale pink Communists.

If there were 1,500,000 there would still be about 122,000,000 Americans of a different color, determined to change this government in their way, if at all, and do it slowly.

YOUR GOVERNMENT needs one billion eight hundred and ninety-two million dollars, half cash, half in new bonds, to take care of indebtedness due December 15.

Nine hundred millions will be borrowed at interest, presumably, and new bonds, or debt certificates bearing interest, will be put out. Having paid out millions of interest the government will owe as much as it did before.

Why not give 1,892,496,500 nice, brand new green dollars to the holders of those two and a quarter per cent certificates that come due December 15, saying to the owners: "Here is nice new money. Spend it and help recovery."

AN OLD MAN of sixty walked along the railroad tracks near Atlantic City, waiting for a train to come and kill him. It came. He died. His farewell message, urging police not to look for his relatives, mentioned "poverty, sickness, pain and no work" as good reasons for suicide.

A few days ago, a lady, once "rich and aristocratic," killed herself with gas, giving the words, "ill, lonely, impoverished, despondent" as her reasons for leaving life. Much power is in words.

IT WAS suggested here yesterday, after Stalin's friend and associate, Kiroff, had been killed, that Stalin might find a wholesale way to discourage such murders.

He has begun finding them. Ten are reported executed within one hour of their arrest in connection with that shooting, and the Russian Parliament threatens, if necessary, to revive the "red terror" that wiped out thousands in the early days of the revolution. All connected, however remotely, with the assassination, are to be executed promptly.

LEGISLATORS MAY HAVE WORRY ABOUT PAY

Funds Are Low Treasurer Says

Long Session Of Legislature
Would Add To Problem

NEW SOLONS ARE MUCH PERTURBED

By SYDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff
Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—Pennsylvania's harassed legislators had a new problem over which to furrow their brows today—their salaries for the 1935 session.

Scanning the latest state treasury report which showed Pennsylvania's bank balance shrinking away to almost nothing, comparatively speaking, the solons were given reason to feel perturbed over the prospect of making a full and prompt collection of their $3500 salaries for the legislative session beginning next January.

For them State Treasurer Charles A. Waters had only a brief word of comfort today. He said:

"I feel sure we will have enough to make a first payment at least."

He was referring to the first $500,000 installment which is customary for legislators to pay themselves at the end of the first week of the legislature.

But the state treasurer refused to commit himself concerning payment of the remaining $3,000 and the mileage expenses incurred by the lawmakers in traveling to and from their duties in Harrisburg.

Not Very Hopeful.
Waters had indicated the commonwealth will end the year with the general fund from which the legislative salaries and expenses are paid practically empty. Revenues for the remaining six months of the present biennium until July 1 are not even expected to keep pace with the expenditures for that period to say nothing of the expense of the legislative session and some $9,000,000 in preferred obligations already past due.

The legislature's salary cuts reducing the stipends from $3,000 to $2,700 for attendance at a regular session become effective in January but even so the state will have to

And $645,000 if it is to pay the 208 representatives and the 50 senators their full salaries.

If the session runs until June or July, as expected from present indications, another several hundred thousand dollars will be required for mileage, the per diem expenses of the numerous clerks and secretaries and the printing bill.

Fund Is Behind.
The general fund is now $9,000,000 behind and expenses are running about $2,000,000 a month ahead of income, according to treasury officials, so that a state deficit from between $3,000,000 to $30,000,000 is at this time expected to be written on the account books next July when the 1933-1935 biennium ends.

A suggestion that the representatives and senators turn themselves into "dollar a year men" to meet the emergency has been greeted with polite guffaws thus far upon mention in political circles.

With Governor-elect George H. Earle determined to translate the Democratic platform into law, even the most optimistic of the legislators at present have little hope of ending the 1935 session until some time in June or July. For such a long stretch many were believed to feel they ought to collect the full $2500 as allowed by law.

Plan Inaugural Ball For Earle At Harrisburg

Democrats Will Celebrate Election Of First Democratic Governor In 44 Years

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—Lawrence county will be represented by Miss Marguerite Uhl of New Castle, on the executive committee for the Inaugural Ball planned for Governor-elect George H. Earle. Members of the committee will have charge of the sale of the tickets in their respective counties, the event not only honoring Earle, but also will benefit the families of the Kelynes political massacre.

Governor-elect Earle is the first Democrat to be elected to the governorship of Pennsylvania in 44 years, and the event is going to be properly celebrated by the Democrats.

Communists And Tailors.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

WILL THOSE inclined to underestimate the importance of airplanes in the next war be good enough to read a few headlines that stretch in big type across the front page of the British newspaper, "The Sunday Referee"?

"Bombing Tests Alarm Naval Experts."
"Biggest Warships Prove to Be at Mercy of Air Attackers."
"Hits From a Height of 10,000 Feet."

THE BRITISH newspaper goes on to say:
"The Sunday Referee understands the admiralty is seriously concerned with the results of recent bombing experiments from the air."

"Up till fairly recently it has been maintained by the admiralty officials that a ship could not be attacked by airplanes with any hope of accuracy from 10,000 feet."

"Their arguments were two-fold: (1) That the moving target could be struck by accident, and (2) that at less than 10,000 feet the battleship could defend itself."

"Although the full facts are known to many, their publication is not considered to be in the public interest."

"The Sunday Referee, however, feels that it is of urgent public interest to state that the bombing experiments have created an entirely new situation in official admiralty circles. In fact, so acute is that situation that the experts are now asking whether the day of the navy as England's main defense is not practically at an end."

"Britain spent 44,000,000 pounds last year on the navy. In the same period of time she spent 17,000,000 pounds on the air force. What has the battleship school to offer as a remedy now against the menace of air attack and blockade?"

COULD ANYBODY in Washington find time, in the midst of all the initials, to take some interest in this statement?

The British navy now discovers that its battleships will merely be targets for airplanes in the next war. Will this country continue building battleship targets for the airplanes of other countries and neglecting its own air force?

And, how long will it continue the policy of making the air force an annex of the Army and Navy, whereas marching soldiers and floating ships should be a mere annex of the air force?

MR. WEST of the Junior National Chamber of Commerce, says one million five hundred thousand Communists are plotting to overthrow this government.

The famous "seven tailors of Tooley street" beginning their execution "We, the people of England," also planned to change things, but they did not. Mr. West's 1,500,000 Communists will not overthrow any.

If there were 1,500,000 there would still be about 122,000,000 Americans of a different color, determined to change this government in their way, if at all, and do it slowly.

YOUR GOVERNMENT needs one billion eight hundred and ninety-two million dollars, half cash, half in new bonds, to take care of indebtedness due December 15.

Nine hundred millions will be borrowed at interest, presumably, and new bonds, or debt certificates bearing interest, will be put out. Having paid out millions of interest the government will owe as much as it did before.

MUST the government continue the foolish policy of paying interest on its own money when it can print the money and pay its debts?

Why not give 1,892,496,500 nice, brand new green dollars to the holders of those two and a quarter per cent certificates that come due December 15, saying to the owners: "Here is nice new money. Spend it and help recovery."

AN OLD MAN of sixty walked along the railroad tracks near Atlantic City, waiting for a train to come and kill him. It came. He died. His farewell message, urging police not to look for his relatives, mentioned "poverty, sickness, pain and no work" as good reasons for suicide.

A few days ago, a lady, once "rich and aristocratic," killed herself with gas, giving the words, "Oh, lonely, impoverished, despondent" as her reasons for leaving life. Much power is in words.

IT WAS suggested here yesterday, after Stalin's friend and associate, Kiroff, had been killed, that Stalin might find a wholesale way to discourage such murders.

He has reported executed within one hour of their arrest in connection with that shooting, and the Russian Parliament threatens, if necessary, to revive the "red terror" that wiped out thousands in the early days of the revolution. All connected however remotely, with the assassination, are to be executed promptly.

Will Take Part In Senior Play

One of the cast in "Big-hearted Hubert," senior high school graduates' class play, is Miss Layte Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
W. S. Wheeler of Sheridan avenue.

Miss Wheeler interprets the role of Mrs. Haven, wife of an important customer of "Big-hearted" Hubert's firm. It is at a home dinner to which Mr. and Mrs. Haven have been invited, that the long-suffering family of Hubert decide to give him a "plain living" that he continually prescribes for them. As Mrs. Haven is a "plain" woman herself, who is however, used to and appreciative of the amenities of modern culture, she quickly grasps the situation and joins forces with the family.

Layte is quite at home on the high school stage, having played in a number of local comedies. She is an able and enthusiastic art student. Her special hobbies are dramatics and athletics.

Miss Betty Jane Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Cole of Euclid avenue, is another member of the cast of the senior play. "Cole" as Mrs. Goodrich, mother of "big-hearted" Hubert, would be son-in-law, is a quiet, dignified lady of middle age. With her usually dignified husband, Mr. Goodrich, she acts as a foil for Hubert, in the scene where his boorish egotism gets quite out of control and nearly wrecks his family and his home.

Miss Cole likewise is not a new figure in local amateur theatricals. She too reports that dramatics and sports are her special outside interests.

These two popular members of the January graduating class are important factors in the already assured success of the senior class play.

STOP BAD BREATH
Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know it. Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets actively burrow into the bowels, stimulating them to natural action, and gently purifying the entire system.
They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no gripping pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with constipation and bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two at bedtime for a week and note the effect.

Will Take Part In Senior Play

In the past persons who handle foodstuffs had delivered to them certificates which were filled out by examining physicians. In the future, such persons may be asked to call for them at the city building.

Miss Betty Jane Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. De Luce Cole of Euclid avenue, is another member of the cast of the senior play, "Cole" as Mrs. Goodrich, mother of "big-hearted" Herbert's would-be son-in-law, is a quiet, dignified lady of middle age. With her equally dignified husband, Mr. Goodrich, she acts as a foil for Herbert in the scene where his boorish egotism gets quite out of control and nearly wrecks his family and his home.

Miss Cole likewise is not a new figure in local amateur theatricals. She too reports that dramatics and sports are her special outside interests.

These two popular members of the January graduating class are important factors in the already assured success of the senior class play.

FILM-STRENGTH

It's worth money . . . because the revolutionary improvement of NEW HIGH FILM-STRENGTH definitely means that thousands of dollars will be saved on repairs by the users of the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter!

Take pistons, for example. At 40 miles an hour they travel up and down some 4000 times a minute; and the only thing that separates them from the cylinder walls is a film of oil thinner than a piece of paper! That oil has to be STRONG . . . to stand this terrific punishment and still prevent the metal-to-metal contact which causes wear.

ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS are strong. Through an exclusive process, ATLANTIC now gives them FILM-STRENGTH SO HIGH that we believe it the greatest improvement in motor oils since the invention of the automobile! Learn how much money these new oils can save for you! To get full benefit of NEW HIGH FILM-STRENGTH, drain your crankcase before putting in the correct winter grade of the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS.

Administration Considers Qualifications Of Applicant Referred To Banks

In referring applicants for loans to the banks, the Federal Housing Administration considers their qualifications before this final step is taken. Administrative Chairman Marcus Feuchtwanger, of the Federal Housing Administration, stated today.

The banks like this arrangement, he stated, and their loans for modernization work have been made in most cases upon the recommendation of the administrator. This plan materially facilitates the work of the bank and results in the loans being put through faster.

Up to the present time, 98 per cent of the loans recommended have been passed by the banks who are fully cooperating with the government in the housing plan.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Lillian J. Bingham, athletic director of Harvard has announced the acceptance of the resignation of Eddie Casey as head coach of the varsity football team. He has resigned in that post for four years. During the five years previous he served as backfield coach and head freshman coach. Casey's resignation has been expected since Harvard had a most unsuccessful season and climaxed with a Yale defeat.

Southern California's chances of defeating Notre Dame, Saturday at Los Angeles were given a setback yesterday when Ward Browning, first string right end, suffered a fractured leg in the final scrimmage of the season. He was going down under a punt when the accident occurred. Bill Howard, second squad member, charged back with the ball and four men piled up with the 200 wigmans on the bottom, his right ankle doubled up under him.

Harold (Red) Grange, famed as the "Galloping Ghost" of the gridiron, intends to hang up his moose skin after 12 years in the sport and next year he may be found in a coaching position. Athletic authorities at Florida have offered him a chance to start his tutoring career at Gainesville but he has not yet accepted the offer.

Reports from Buffalo are to the effect that a young heavyweight boxer there who has been knocking out all his opponents may be soon under the management of Jimmie Dunn with Bob Latera as one of Dunn's co-workers. In his last appearance fans paid $6,000, to see the amateur start his career. According to reports the chap will join Dunn in January and Latera will help Dunn with the Buffalonian.

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Drinking among spectators at football games will be one of the problems considered at the annual meeting of athletic directors and faculty representatives of the western conference, it was learned today.

George Huff, director of athletics at the University of Illinois, said he would ask for "an honest and frank discussion of the subject" and its possible remedies when the meeting is held here Friday and Saturday.

Harvard Looks For New Coach

Coach Eddie Casey Quits, Kipke And Kerr Are Being Mentioned

MOVE EXPECTED TO AID HARVARD

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Eddie Casey, one time immortal football star at Harvard has heard enough of the "howling of the wolves" and so next year Harvard is going to be blessed out with a new grid mentor and on reliable authority it will in all probability not be a Harvard graduate.

Harry Kipke, former Michigan great and Andy Kerr, the "Grand Old Man" of Colgate have been mentioned rather strongly as possible successors to Mister Casey, but nothing definite has been done about filling the shoes worn by the man who once could almost have been elected president of Harvard.

It is reported that Kipke left the confines of Ann Arbor, Michigan yesterday and headed for New York City, but it was just going to see the bright lights and then again he may have something more important on his mind.

But, this much is assured the Harvard football team will have a nationally recognized leader at the helm when it comes time to get the 1935 football team ready.

Harvard Looks For New Coach

MOVE EXPECTED TO AID HARVARD

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Eddie Casey, one time immortal football star at Harvard has heard enough of the "howling of the wolves" and so next year Harvard is going to blossom out with a new grid mentor and on reliable authority it will in all probability not be a Harvard graduate.

Harry Kipke, former Michigan great and Andy Kerr, the "Grand Old Man" of Colgate have been mentioned rather strongly as possible successors to Mister Casey, but nothing definite has been done about filling the shoes worn by the man who once could almost have been elected president of Harvard.

It is reported that Kipke left the confines of Ann Arbor, Michigan yesterday and headed for New York City, but it was just going to see the bright lights and then again he may have something more important on his mind. But, this much is assured the Harvard football team will have a nationally recognized leader at the helm when it comes time to get the 1935 football team ready.

BLOCK AND TACKLE

Wide publicity has been given to the deceptive playing of Pitt, Colgate, and other teams that feature lateral, backward, and multiple pass combinations which scatter footballs through the air like buckshot. This type of game is supposed to revolutionize football to such an extent that the game as currently played will not even be recognized as a distant cousin.
True, tricky flips have been used very successfully by some of the strongest teams this year but by no means can this part of the game be given full credit for the success of Colgate, Pitt, Ohio State, and the others. It isn't even the primary reason for the ability they have demonstrated.

To be able to do a little basketball playing behind the line of scrimmage some mighty fine blocking aid is necessary to keep the backfield clear of hostile linemen. If a team wishes to gain, it still has the same distance forward to move no matter how many tosses it handles behind its scrimmage line.
Running is the best way to advance the ball toward the enemy goal but what makes it possible for the ball-carrier to gain again the answer is blocking. If a team chooses to forward pass instead of run with the ball, blocking is still necessary to protect the passer.

If you like Colgate's laterals and backward flips on kick-offs and punt returns, you'll have to attribute the success of these plays to blocking, also. After a player risks himself of the ball his job isn't completed; he continues down the field as interferer for the team-mate who has taken over his ball-carrying duties.
Now we turn to the part tackling plays in a team's success. No matter how great an offense a team flashes, whether relying on a deceptive style or straight line plunge, the other team gets a crack at the offense part of the time. And when the opposition is in possession of the ball, all the laterals ever concocted are of no value to the defensive team.
A team can't win ball games solely on offense; it must be able to hold the opponents, and the only way in the world to prevent the enemy from scoring is by tackling.

As was the case years ago and is the case today, the football fundamentals, blocking and tackling, are the basis on which leading football teams are founded. The tricky plays enable a team to utilize its blocking more efficiently but, nevertheless, blocking still moves the way for touchdowns and tackling is still the method of preventing an opponent from scoring.
Anything that tends to cause an opponent to relax, takes him off balance or out of his position or distracts his attention from the point of play, naturally, makes a team's blocking more effective. And that is what the deception "does for football," it enables a blocker to do a more thorough job.

Why is it that Pitt can feature almost any member of its backfield as an outstanding player? La Rue, Nickisch, Weisenbaugh, Weinstock, Randour, and Shedlosky have all had their big days on different occasions. It isn't the tricky plays that cause this but timely blocking by a fast-charging line and versatile backs who can run interference as well as carry the ball.
The players on the Notre Dame team of 1930, generally considered as Rockne's masterpiece, also were past masters of the art of blocking and tackling. While the Rockne system featured deception, it was the blocking that made it possible the "perfect plays" that resulted in so many lengthy runs for touchdowns.
No team, drilled only in deception, could convert a reserve halfback into a star fullback when the player had only a few days practice at the new post. Yet, that is what the Fighting Irish did for Bucky O'Connor in the Southern California game after Moon Mullins and Joe Savoldi, fullbacks, were lost to the team.
Now, move over into the professional ranks where the Chicago Bears hold sway. They also use deception in their game but it is based on the idea that the deception can make the fundamentals more effective.
In Beattie Feathers, ball-carrier, and Bronko Nagurski, his interferer, the Bears have what many regard as the greatest offensive threat of all time in football. This combination is powerful on any kind of play whether it is a spin-run, straight line buck or anything else. And the only secret behind their success is that Feathers knows how to run with a ball and Nagurski has the drive to upset a steam roller with his blocking.
So, to get the mistaken idea that the lateral pass craze will take the place of the current fundamentals. As long as football exists, blocking and tackling will remain the basic principles on which football games are won and lost.

So, to get the mistaken idea that the lateral pass craze will take the place of the current fundamentals. As long as football exists, blocking and tackling will remain the basic principles on which football games are won and lost.

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

BLOCK AND TACKLE

Wide publicity has been given to the deceptive playing of Pitt, Colgate, and other teams that feature lateral, backward, and multiple combinations which are footballs through the line is supposed to revolutionize football to such an extent that the game as currently played will not even be recognized as a distant cousin.

True, tricky plays have been used very successfully by some of the strongest teams this year but by no means can this part of the game be given full credit for the success of Colgate, Pitt, Ohio State, and the others. It isn't even the primary reason for the ability they have demonstrated.

To be able to do a little basketball playing behind the line of scrimmage some mighty fine blocking aid is necessary to keep the backfield clear of hostile linemen. If a team wishes to gain, it still has the same distance forward to move no matter how many tosses it handles behind its scrimmage line.

Running is the best way to advance the ball toward the enemy goal but what makes it possible for the ball-carrier to gain again the answer is blocking. If a team chooses to forward pass instead of run with the ball, blocking is still necessary to protect the passer.

If you like Colgate's laterals and backward flips on kick-offs and punt returns, you'll have to attribute the success of these plays to blocking, also. After a player rids himself of the ball his job isn't complete; he continues down the field as interference for the team-mate who has taken over his ball-carrying duties.

Now we turn to the part tackling plays in a team's success. No matter how great an offense a team flashes, whether relying on a deceptive style or straight line plunger, the other team gets a crack at the offense part of the time. And when the offense is in the line of the ball, all the laterals ever concocted are of no value to the defensive team.

A team can't win ball games solely on offense; it must be able to hold the opponents, and the only way in the world to prevent the enemy from scoring is by tackling.

As was the case years ago and is the case today, the football fundamentals, blocking and tackling, are the basis on which leading football teams are founded. The tricky plays enable a team to utilize its blocking more efficiently but, nevertheless, blocking still paves the way for touchdowns and tackling is still the method of preventing an opponent from scoring.

Anything that tends to cause an opponent to relax, takes him off balance or out of his game, or distracts his attention from the point of play, naturally, makes a team's blocking more effective. And that is what the deception does for football; it enables a blocker to do a more thorough job.

Why is it that Pitt can feature almost any member of its backfield as an outstanding player? La Rue, Nickisch, Weisenbaugh, Weinstock, Randour, and Sheldosky have all had their big days on different occasions. It isn't the tricky plays that cause this but timely blocking by a fast-charging line and versatile backs who can run interference as well as carry the ball.

The players on the Notre Dame team of 1930, generally considered as Rockne's masterpiece, also were past masters of the art of blocking and tackling. While the Rockne system featured deception, it was the blocking that made possible the "perfect plays" that resulted in so many lengthy runs for touchdowns.

No team, drilled only in offense, could convert a reserve halfback into a star fullback when the player had only a few days practice at the new post. Yet, that is what the Fighting Irish did for Bucky O'Connor in the Southern California game after Moon Mullins and Joe Savoldi, fullbacks, were lost to the team.

Now, move over into the professional ranks where the Chicago Bears hold sway. They also use deception in their game but it is all based on the idea that the deception can make the fundamentals more effective.

In Beattie Feathers, ball-carrier, and Bronko Nagurski as his interferer, the Bears have what many regard as the greatest offensive threat of all time in football. This combination is powerful on any kind of play whether it is a spin, straight line buck or anything else. And the only secret behind their success is that Feathers knows how to run with a ball and Nagurski has the drive to upset a steam roller with his blocking.

So don't get the mistaken idea that the lateral pass craze will take the place of the current fundamentals. As long as football exists, blocking and tackling will remain the basic principles on which football games are won and lost.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Lillian J. Bingham, athletic director of Harvard has announced the acceptance of the resignation of Eddie Casey as head coach of the varsity football team. He has resigned in that post for four years. During the five years previous he served as backfield coach and head freshman coach. Casey's resignation has been expected since Harvard had a most unsuccessful season and climaxed with a Yale defeat.

Southern California's chances of defeating Notre Dame, Saturday at Los Angeles were given a setback yesterday when Ward Browning, first string right end, suffered a fractured leg in the final scrimmage of the season. He was going down under a punt when the accident occurred. Bill Howard, second squad member, charged back with the ball and four men piled up with the 200 wingman on the bottom, his right ankle doubled up under him.

Harold (Red) Grange, famed as the "Galloping Ghost" of the gridiron intends to hang up his moccasins after 12 years in the sport and next year he may be found in a coaching position. Athletic authorities at Florida have offered him a chance to start his tutoring career at Gainesville but he has not yet accepted the offer.

Reports from Buffalo are to the effect that a young heavyweight boxer there who has been knocking out all his opponents may be soon under the management of Jimmie Dunn with Bob Laters, as one of Dunn's co-workers. In his last appearance fans paid $6,000, to see the amateur strut his wallop. According to reports the chap will join Dunn in January and Laters will help him with the Buffalo team.

Gehrig drove 166 runs across the plate, thereby tying the league record held by Babe Ruth, who had been the leader five times since the league first began to keep records in 1920.

With football season ended, Captain Brownie Ostrosky, Dal Mumford, Dom DeCaprio, Toscano and Stritz will move to likely report for the floor campaign.

Croton Bucs To Enjoy Banquet

The Croton Bucs will hold a banquet Sunday following the defeat of last Sunday. The banquet will be held at the Valentino hall. Coach Pio was very successful this year to have a fairly good team, they won 15 and lost 2.

Pia has quite a galaxy of stars on his team, such as Mailey, Pavia, W. Aven (captain), Leonelli and others. The Bucs were defeated Sunday by the Canaries of the league of New Castle by a score of 21-14, putting down another defeat for Pia's Bucs. The Bucs have scored 289 points on their opponents this football season which is a lot better than last season.

Drinking Fans To Be Discussed

Would Stop Drinking At Football Games; Seek Possible Remedies

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Drinking among spectators at football games will be one of the problems considered at the annual meeting of athletic directors and faculty representatives of the western conference, it was learned today.

George Huff, director of athletics at the University of Illinois, said he would ask for "an honest and frank discussion of the subject" and its possible remedies when the meeting is held here Friday and Saturday.

There was no indication that the faculty committee was considering any alteration of the stringent play-eligibility rules.

Harvard Looks For New Coach

MOVE EXPECTED TO AID HARVARD

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Eddie Casey, one-time immortal football star at Harvard has heard enough of the "howling of the wolves" and so next year Harvard is going to bloom out with a new grid mentor and on reliable authority it will in all probability not be a Harvard graduate.

Harry Kipke, former Michigan guard, and Andy Kerr, the "Grand Old Man" of Colgate have been mentioned rather strongly as possible successors to Mister Casey, but nothing definite has been done about filling the shoes worn by the man who once could almost have been elected president of Harvard.

It is reported that Kipke left the confines of Ann Arbor, Michigan yesterday and headed for New York City, but it was just going to see the bright lights and then again he may have something more important on his mind.

But, this much is assured the Harvard football team will have a national "recognized leader" at the helm when it comes time to get the 1935 football team ready.

Seven Of Panther Players Married

Dan Cupid Does Wholesale Business On Pitt Squad In Two Years' Time

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—Wholesale raids on members of the University of Pittsburgh football squad have been made by Dan Cupid during the last two years, it was revealed today.

Seven members of the squad, including two stars of the first team, took unto themselves brides during that time, and in many cases, not even their teammates knew about it.

Vivians of Cupid's darts include Harvey Rooker, end, who married Miss Dorothy Lauberg, Tarentum, his home town, on February 24, 1933, and Miller Mijner, quarterback, of Belaire, O.

Others on the list are: Hubert Randour, halfback; Leo Malarky, halfback; Frank Kutz, guard; Walter Bahusa, tackle, and Karl Seiffert, end.

Sparkling artificial flowers made of "radior" combined with black or white velvet, are the latest for evening. They also make lovely Christmas gifts.

How Thousands Now Get SOUND RESTFUL SLEEP Entirely Without Drugs

DO YOU sometimes toss and turn for hours before you fall asleep? Sleep fitfully? Wake up tired and lousy?

If so, we offer you here a way that has brought relief to thousands. A drugless way—that you can try at once—in perfect safety. Just clip the coupon at the right and send for a 3-day trial of Ovaltine.

Hundreds of physicians recommend Ovaltine because they have found that, when taken as a hot drink at bedtime, it usually induces sound sleep in a surprisingly short time—without the use of drugs.

Inducing sleep, however, is not the only benefit from Ovaltine. It is so remarkably easy to digest, and contains such unusual food values, that it is a valuable aid to nature in rebuilding nerve, brain, and body tissue while you sleep.

Thus you awaken in the morning—not with a "druggy" feeling, but clear-eyed and refreshed—nerves calm and mind clear—just the way you should feel after a perfect night's sleep.

So outstanding are the results accredited to Ovaltine that, during the World War, it was used as a standard ration for invalid soldiers. Thousands of people, men and women, use it regularly to restore vitality when fatigued—and as a strengthening food for nursing mothers, convalescents, and the aged.

Get a can of Ovaltine at any drug or grocery store today. Or mail the coupon at the right for a trial supply.

Tall Centers In Pittsburgh

Pitt, Tech And Duquesne Will Have Giant Basketball Centers This Year

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—"Ceiling-bumpers" are to be the rule of local collegiate floor squads this year, a survey of material at the three universities, Pitt, Carnegie Tech and Duquesne, revealed today.

The Skiboos of Tech will put the tallest man on the floor when Hugh James, Gloversville, N. Y., takes the floor. He towers six feet, seven inches above the floor, a two inch advantage over his nearest teammate, Charles Fitz Wilson, formerly of Cincinnati, who measures six feet five.

Duquesne University will have Ed Kweiler, East Pittsburgh, on the floor with his six and a half-foot frame. Doc Carlson's Pitt squad will be the midsize of Pittsburgh's cagers apparently with the highest man on the squad will be Pete "High" Noon, at six feet, five inches.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

BLOCK AND TACKLE
Wide publicity has been given to the deceptive playing of Pitt, Colgate and other teams that feature lateral, backward, and multiple pass combinations which scatter footballs through the air like buckshot. This type of game is supposed to revolutionize football to such an extent that the game as currently played will not even be recognized as a distant cousin.

True, tricky plays have been used very successfully by some of the strongest teams this year but by no means can this part of the game be given full credit for the success of the Colgate, Pitt, Ohio State and others. It is not even the primary reason for the ability they have demonstrated.

To be able to do a little basketball playing behind the line of scrimmage some mighty fine blocking aid is necessary to keep the ball carrier to gain. Again the answer is blocking. If a team chooses to forward pass instead of run with the ball, blocking is still necessary to protect the passer.

If you like Colgate's laterals and backward flips on kick-off and punt returns, you will like the new blocking plays in a team's success. No matter how great an offense a team flashes, whether relying on a deceptive style or straight line plunge, the other team gets a crack at the offense part of the time. And when the offense is in the rear of the building occupied by them as headquarters on South Mill street.

Mr. Goddard was carrying a basket of supplies, and was thrown heavily to the ground.

Anything that tends to cause an opponent to relax, takes him off balance or out of his element, or distracts his attention from the point of play, naturally, makes a team's blocking more effective. And that is what the deception does for football. It enables a blocker to do a more thorough job.

Why is it that Pitt can feature almost any member of its backfield as an outstanding player? La Rue, Nickisch, Weisenbaugh, Weinstock, Randour, and Sheddsky have all had their big days on different occasions. It was the tricky plays that cause this but timely blocking by a fast-charging line and versatile backs who can run interference as well as carry the ball.

The players on the Notre Dame team of 1930, generally considered as football's masterpiece, also were past masters of the art of blocking and tackling. While the Rockne system featured deception, it was the blocking that made possible the "perfect plays" that resulted in so many lengthy runs for touchdowns.

No team, drilled only in deception, could convert a reserve halfback into a star fullback when the player had only a few days practice at the new post. Yet that is what the Fighting Irish did for Buckey O'Connor in the Southern California game after Moon Mullins and Joe Savoldi, fullbacks, were lost to the team.

Now, move over into the professional ranks where the Chicago Bears hold sway. They also use deception in their game but it is all based on the idea that the deception can make the fundamentals more effective.

To Beattie Feathers, ball-carrier, and Bronko Nagurski as his inter-ferer, the Bears have what many regard as the greatest offensive threat of all time in football. This combination is powerful on any kind of play whether it is a sprint, straight buck or anything else. And the only secret behind their success is that Feathers knows how to run with a ball and Nagurski has the drive to upset a steam roller with his blocking.

So don't get the mistaken idea that the latest craze will take the place of the current fundamentals. As long as football exists, blocking and tackling will remain the basic principles on which football games are won and lost.

Hijackers Offer To Sell Whiskey

Call Is Made To Head Of Trucking Firm By Unidentified Man

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—Tracing
a telephone call from a man who is said to have offered the return of whiskey hi-jacked from a truck last Saturday, authorities today were expecting to solve the puzzling case.
The liquor, according to the driver
and others on the truck, who said
they were "kidnaped" for five hours,
was stolen when the vehicle was stopped near Warrendale. Loss of the 300 cases of liquor was placed at $3,000.
The telephone call, made last night to J. J. Tobin, president of the trucking firm contracted to haul
the liquor to the warehouse at Erie, was reported to have been made by an unidentified man who attempted to negotiate with Tobin and then hung up.

Job Office Places 618 In Past Week

The federal-state employment office here placed 618 men and women on jobs during the past week. Acting Supervisor W. Earl Leslie announced today.
He said 588 of the 618 were assigned to RWD projects while 27 were placed on public works projects (highways here); three in domestic work, two in trade jobs and one in private employment. Only six of the placements were "normal" placements, the rest being relief and other placements.
At the close of the week 9,240 active applications were on file in the office here. Of those, 1,917 were applications of women and girls.

SAYS INDO-VIN MADE HER WELL

"What I Needed For My Deranged Organs" She Says; "All The Misery Is Gone."

Mrs. Robert Cartwright, of 300 E.
Arch St., Pottsville, Pa., is still another LONG-TIME resident of this vicinity who is publicly praising the new, scientific mixture of medicinal plant juices, known as Indo-Vin which is now being introduced to the public daily here in this city at Eckerd's drug store. Following is this widely-known lady's statement:
"All I had done
for about a year
and a half was to take medicine for
my stomach," said
Mrs. Cartwright. "I suffered terribly with indigestion and it seemed like everything I ate would disagree with me. My meals wouldn't nourish my system like they should and as a result I kept losing my energy and finally got to where my health was in a rundown condition."
"I thought I would never find anything to help me and was certainly discouraged but finally I got Indo-Vin and it proved to be what I had always needed. My food is digesting perfectly now and my meals are nourishing my system so that I have ten times the energy I used to have and my general health is so much better that my friends are amazed at the remarkable improvement of my condition and appearance. This medicine is a wonder and I gladly endorse it."
Indo-Vin is now being introduced to the public daily here in New Castle at Eckerd's drug store, and sold by every good druggist in all the nearby towns throughout this whole section.

Pinchot-Borah In Conference

Governor Pinchot Will Try
To Effect Reorganization
Of Republican Party

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Convinced that the Republican party can stage a comeback by 1935, Gov. Gilford Pinchot of Pennsylvania was on record today with an endorsement of the proposal of Senator Borah (R) of Idaho for reorganization of the Republican party.
"It is perfectly obvious that leadership of the revitalized Republican party must be from men rather than money," Pinchot declared. The governor and Mrs. Pinchot called upon Borah here to discuss plans for effecting the senator's proposal.
Borah, however, informed that Senator Coughens (R) of Michigan had challenged him to assume leadership
of a new Republican party, replied:
"If he wants a platform, I will give him one headed by a plank to tax
- exempt securities."
The remark apparently was based upon reports that Senator Coughens' large fortune is invested in government bonds.

Girls Deny Dance Was Done In Nude

Girls Very Indignant Over
Charges Made Following
Raid On Township Club

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—Additional details of an alleged immoral show, held at a Hampton township
club last September, were to be revealed behind locked court room
doors here today.
The case, in which Felix Angelo is the defendant, was expected to be completed before nightfall.
Judge William McNaugher is presiding.
Behind the barred doors, a jury
of twelve men heard the testimony of six Northside girls, each of whom was alleged to have danced in the nude at the club. A few minutes of the testimony, the jury viewed sections of motion pictures which had been seized in the raid.
The girls joined in a chorus to deny that they had danced in the nude, or that their dances were immoral. These statements were affirmed by Angelo, who also said that he was not the proprietor of the show.

Electric Consumers League Has Meeting

Akron Speaker Does Not Arrive; Will Be Heard In
Two Weeks

Scheduled speaker from Akron,
O., failed to arrive for an address
at a meeting of the local Electric Consumers' League last night and,
after a wait of 30 minutes, the group adjourned to meet again at the court house on Tuesday evening, December 18.
The scheduled speaker, Dr. Hayes
of Akron, had assured the league

officers that he would be here. No other word had reached them.
While the audience of some 50
persons waited for the speaker, William H. Butler, in a brief resume of the league's work, told what has been accomplished to date. He predicted that by next week the league
would have almost 13,000 registered voters on its membership roll and called upon members present to continue their personal contact work.
Mr. Butler declared that one of the league's objectives is to "build up local pay rolls" and he said "the acquisition of smaller industries"
must be another goal. Referring directly to the electric light rate drive,
he said "we'll never get a proper reduction in our rates here until we own these electric poles and wires
as a community." He asserted also
"that we may see this district be-

ernment before this is over—another TVA."
The Dr. Hayes who will be invited here on December 18 is

Miners Out On Sympathy Strike

More Than 100 Miners Near Johnstown, Pa., Are Ordered To Strike

(International News Service)
JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Dec. 5.—Ordered out by officials of the United Mine Workers organization, more than 100 men joined the strike movement at Cohansey today.
The miners walked out because the management of the Huskin Run Coal Company refused to reinstate a dismissed employee. Officials of the company denied that the discharge was due to alleged tampering with mine machinery.
In the meantime, picketing at mines in the Johnstown district, where many house coal mines are not in operation because laborers refuse to enter the pits until a union contract is entered into, was continued.

Excellent Work On Auditorium

Franklin Junior High Auditorium Being Transformed Into Work Of Beauty

One of the most important FERA projects underway in the schools of New Castle is the decorating work in progress at the Benjamin Franklin Junior high school auditorium.
A squad of painters has been transforming the auditorium into a work of art. When the job is completed this will be, beyond any doubt, the most beautiful auditorium in the city. Paint and fresco of varied hues are being applied. The work is being done carefully and by experts.

Aside from the projects value in furnishing employment to men, it is one of the most practical of the many improvements underway in the schools.
Asked when the auditorium would be ready for use, Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of the city schools, replied this morning that in all probability it will be open when the students return from their Christmas vacation period.

For a Bad Cough, Mix This Better Remedy at Home

Quicker, Lasting Relief.
Big Saving! No Cooking!

Here's an old home remedy you nobody knew, but, for real results, it is still the best thing ever known for severe coughs. Try it once, and you'll swear by it.
It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.
Now put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of actually better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for four times the money.

It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.
And there is positively nothing like it for quick action. You can feel it take hold instantly. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and clears the inflamed membranes, and clears the air passages. No cough remedy, at any price, could be more effective.
Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, famous as a healing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. It is guaranteed to please you, or money refunded.

Police Bureau Probe Planned At Pittsburgh

Over Objections Of Mayor McNair And City Solicitor, Probe Will Be Made

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—Over the opposition of Mayor William N. McNair and City Solicitor Ward Bonnell, an investigation of the police bureau is to be carried out, it was indicated today.

City council is determined to have such an inquiry instituted, even if a councilmanic investigation is necessary to accomplish it.

An ordinance proposed by Bonnell which would have prevented the public administration service of Chicago, an organization under consideration by the council to look into police affairs, from conducting any investigation aside from that authorized by McNair, was defeated by council.

It was revealed that if a regular inquiry is undertaken by the council, witnesses will be called, testimony will be taken and experts hired to analyze the results.

Electric Consumers League Has Meeting

Akron Speaker Does Not Arrive; Will Be Heard In Two Weeks

Scheduled speaker from Akron, O., failed to arrive for an address at a meeting of the local Electric Consumers' League last night and after a wait of 30 minutes, the group adjourned to meet again at the court house on Tuesday evening, December 18.

The scheduled speaker, Dr. Hayes of Akron, had assured the league officers that he would be here. No other word had reached them.

The audience of some 50 persons waited for the speaker, William H. Butler, in a brief resume of the league's work, told what has been accomplished to date. He predicted that by next week the league would have almost 13,000 registered voters on its membership roll and called upon members present to continue their personal contact work.

Mr. Butler declared that one of the league's objectives is to "build up local pay rolls" and he said "the acquisition of smaller industries" must be another goal. Referring directly to the electric light rate drive, he said "we'll never get a proper reduction in our rates here until we own these electric poles and wires as a community." He asserted also "that we may see this district become a yardstick area of the government before this is over—another TVA."

The Dr. Hayes who will be invited here on December 18 is corner of Akron, O.

Miners Out On Sympathy Strike

More Than 100 Miners Near Johnstown, Pa., Are Ordered To Strike

(International News Service) JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Dec. 5.—Ordered out by officials of the United Mine Workers organization, more than 100 men joined the strike movement at Cahagen today.

The miners walked out because the management of the Huskin Run Coal Company refused to reinstate a dismissed employee. Officials of the company denied that the discharge was due to alleged tampering with mine machinery.

In the meantime, picketing at mines in the Johnstown district, where many house coal mines are not in operation because laborers refuse to enter the pits until a union contract is entered into, was continued.

Excellent Work On Auditorium

Franklin Junior High Auditorium Being Transformed Into Work Of Beauty

One of the most important FERA projects underway in the schools of New Castle is the decorating work in progress at the Benjamin Franklin junior high school auditorium. A squad of painters has been transforming the auditorium into a work of art. When the job is completed this will be, beyond any doubt, the most beautiful auditorium in the city. Paint and fresco of varied hues are being applied. The work is being done carefully and by experts.

Aside from the project's value in furnishing employment to men, it is one of the most practical of the many improvements underway in the schools.

Asked when the auditorium would be ready for use, Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of the city schools, replied this morning that in all probability it will be open when the students return from their Christmas vacation period.

Police Bureau Probe Planned At Pittsburgh

Over Objections Of Mayor
McNair And City Solicitor, Probe Will Be Made

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—Over the opposition of Mayor William N. Mc-Nair and City Solicitor Ward Bonsall, an investigation of the police bureau is to be carried out. It was indicated today.

City council is determined to have such an inquiry instituted, even if a constitutional investigation is necessary to accomplish it.

An ordinance proposed by Bonsall which would have prevented the public administration service of Chicago, an organization under consideration by the council to look into police affairs, from conducting any investigation aside from that authorized by McNair, was defeated by council.

It was revealed that if a regular inquiry is undertaken by the council, witnesses will be called, testimony will be taken and experts hired to analyze the results.

Hijackers Offer To Sell Whiskey

Call Is Made To Head Of Trucking Firm By Unidentified Man

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—Tracing
a telephone call from a man who is said to have offered the return of whiskey hi-jacked from a truck last Saturday, authorities today were expecting to solve the puzzling case.

The liquor, according to the driver
and others on the truck, who said
they were "kidnaped" for five hours,
was stolen when the vehicle was stopped near Warrendale. Loss of the 300 cases of liquor was placed at $3,000.

The telephone call, made last night to J. J. Tobin, president of the trucking firm contracted to haul
the liquor to the warehouse at Erie,
was reported to have been made by
an unidentified man who attempted to negotiate with Tobin and then
hung up.

Job Office Places 618 In Past Week

The federal-state employment office here placed 618 men and women on jobs during the past week, Actiring Supervisor W. Earl Leslie announced today.

He said 585 of the 618 were assigned to RWD projects while 27 were placed on public works projects (highways here); three in domestic work, two in trade jobs and one in private employment. Only six of the placements were "normal" placements, the rest being relief and other
placements.

At the close of the week 9,240 active applications were on file in the office here. Of those, 1,917 were ap-

SAYS INDO-VIN MADE HER WELL

"What I Needed For My Deranged Organs" She Says; "All The Misery Is Gone."

Mrs. Robert Cartwright, of 300 E.
Arch St., Pottsville, Pa., is still another LONG-TIME resident of this vicinity who is publicly praising the new, scientific mixture of Medelinal Plant Juices,

known as Indo-Vin which is now being introduced to the public daily here in this city at Eckerd's drug store. Following is this widely known lady's statement:
"All I had done
for about a year
and a half was to take medicine for
my stomach," said
Mrs. Cartwright.
"I suffered terribly with indigestion and it seemed like everything I ate would disagree with me. My meals wouldn't nourish my system like they should and as a result I kept losing my energy and finally got to where my health was in a rundown condition.
"I thought I would never find anything to help me and was certainly discouraged but finally I got Indo-Vin and it proved to be what I had always needed.
My food is digesting perfectly now and my meals are nourishing my system so that I have ten times the energy I used to have and my general health is so much better that my friends are amazed at the improvement of my condition and appearance. This medicine is a wonderful and I gladly endorse it."

Indo-Vin is now being introduced to the public daily here in New Castle at Eckerd's drug store, and sold by every good drugist in all the nearby towns throughout this whole section.

Pinchot-Borah In Conference

Governor Pinchot Will Try
To Effect Reorganization
Of Republican Party

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Convinced that the Republican party can stage a comeback by 1936, Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania was on record today with an endorsement of the proposal of Senator Borah (R)
of Idaho for reorganization of the Republican party.

"It is perfectly obvious that leadership of the revitalized Republican party must be from men rather than money," Pinchot declared. The governor and Mrs. Pinchot called upon Borah here to discuss plans for effecting the senator's proposal.

Senator Borah, informed that Senator Couzens (R) of Michigan had challenged him to assume leadership
of a new Republican party, replied:
"If he wants a platform, I will give him one headed by a plank to tax
exempt securities."

The remark apparently was based upon reports that Senator Couzens' large fortune is invested in government bonds.

Girls Deny Dance Was Done In Nude

Charges Made Following
Raid On Township Club

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—Additional details of an alleged immoral
show, held at a Hampton township
club last September, were to be revealed behind locked court room
doors here today.

The case, in which Felix Angelo
is the defendant, was expected to be completed before nightfall.
Judge William McNaugher is presiding.

Behind the barred doors, a jury
of twelve men heard the testimony of six Northside girls, each of whom was alleged to have danced in the nude at the club. After hearing the testimony, the jury viewed sections of motion pictures which had been seized in the raid.

The girls joined in a chorus to deny that they had danced in the nude, or that their dances were immoral. These statements were affirmed by Angelo, who also said that he was not the proprietor of the show.

Electric Consumers League Has Meeting

Akron Speaker Does Not Ar-

Two Weeks

Scheduled speaker from Akron,
O., failed to arrive for an address
at a meeting of the local Electric Consumers' League last night and after a wait of 30 minutes, the group adjourned to meet again at the court house on Tuesday evening, December 18.

The scheduled speaker, Dr. Hayes
of Akron, had assured the league

officers that he would be here. No
other word had reached them.

While the audience of some 50
persons waited for the speaker, William H. Butler, in a brief resume of the league's work, told what has been accomplished to date. He predicted that by next week the league
would have almost 13,000 registered voters on its membership roll and
called upon members present to
work.

Mr. Butler declared that one of the league's objectives is to "build
up local pay rolls" and he said "the acquisition of smaller industries"
must be another goal. Referring directly to the electric light rate drive,
he said "we'll never get a proper reduction in our rates here until we
own these electric poles and wires
as a community." He asserted also
"that we may see this district become a yardstick area of the government before this is over—

The Dr. Hayes who will be invited here on December 18 is coroner of Akron, O.
